NEEDS OF SCHOOL WERE DISCUSSED

Rousing Meeting Held Monday Night
And Plans Outlined For Schools
In Cameron.

A meeting for the betterment of the most needed institution in Cameron, the public schools, was held in the district court room Monday night of this week. The attendance was about one-tenth what it should have been, considering the importance of the occasion.

The meeting was called to order by Prof. L. H. Kidd who stated that the object was to get money for the school. Dr. A. S. Epperson, chairman of the school board, after this, presided and the first talk was made by Miss Mildred Chambers, a member of the junior class. Miss Chambers delivered a most impressive talk on the need of domestic economy in the Cameron Public School. She related that in order for the Cameron girls to be up to the standard that in the public school of Cameron the training must be up to the standard, or the girls will fall short. Miss Mildred made a number of good points showing the need of this important branch of work in the public schools.

Superintendent L. H. Kidd next spoke on what was needed in a general way. He said what was needed and what would be provided were entirely two different things. "Whatever the community desires they will have, you have been well satisfied with what you have had, well enough that you have, it has in part, been up to the standard, but now the standard has been raised, we cannot look back, we cannot stand still, we must go forward," said Prof. Kidd. The speaker enumerated a number of things that were badly needed in Cameron for the school to progress, including the home economics department, a commercial department and an agricultural department. "Our school will be overflowed next year beyond all control with the present corps of teachers and equipment, it is necessary that we grow and we must grow. A good school in a community is the best drawing card you can have. When the new Yoe Memorial High School building is erected and occupied you will see 100 families move into Cameron. Now you know what this means. They will spend one thousand dollars per year per family and any one that can figure sees this means one hundred thousand dollars per year turned into the business channels of the town. But in order to take care of this big increase that is bound to come we must have for next years two more teachers in the grades." Prof. Kidd outlined that thirty-six pupils was the standard for any teacher to have but related that the grade teachers in the Cameron schools had from forty to as high as fifty-three in one grade reciting one lesson at the same time.

"Another important matter that should have attention; your teachers should be paid a living salary. The average salary to the teachers in your school is $60.00 per month, dividing this into twelve months, she is drawing $45.00 per month, it takes $32.50 per month to pay her board, $5.00 per month for laundry, stamps, money for the missionary box and incidentals, $2.50 per month, leaving $5.00 per month and when a teacher needs a pair of new shoes it takes her three months to pay for same. The average increase in the cost of living is 82 per cent. The average increase in wages is 62 per cent and the average increase in salaries paid teachers, the world today, is about 12 per cent. My friends it is up to you to do something. You must have more money for your schools. If necessary, double your tax. You might say that you cannot double the tax, that the city charter will not permit. Change your charter so that it will permit." Prof. Kidd outlined the percentage of taxation out of 150 schools that had been figured, the rate runs from 50 per cent valuation to 125 per cent valuation and the average was 77 per cent. Cameron's per cent is only 50. "We must at least move up to the standard" declared Mr. Kidd.

The next speaker of the evening was Mr. E. A. Wallace who told how the people of Cameron could have the

HARDWARE BUSINESS IS REORGANIZED

"Milam County Hardware Company"
New Name of Old Reliable Firm
In Cameron.

Announcement was made the first of the week that the hardware business which has been conducted in Cameron for the past ten years, under the name of Tyson-Freeman-Holtzclaw Company, had been reorganized.

The reorganization of this firm gives Cameron and Milam county one of the strongest retail hardware concerns in Central Texas. A new charter will fully paid capital stock amounting to $18,000.00 has been granted. The incorporators are B. P. Atkinson, Judd Davis and A. C. Freeman. The officers are as follows: B. P. Atkinson, President; Judd Davis, Vice-President and General Manager; A. C. Freeman, Secretary and Treasurer.

It will be the purpose of the Milam County Hardware Company to carry a stock of everything in their line, including shelf hardware, plows, implements of every description, stoves, ranges, harness, glassware, etc. There will also be a high class plumbing department maintained, they will carry a good stock of plumbing supplies and bath room fixtures. The tin shop and sheet metal factory to be maintained by the Milam County Hardware Company will be second to none. They are in position to make anything that can be turned or twisted out of sheet metal or tin. This department is under the supervision of John F. Mc Lane who is also a master in the art of making keys, John F. seldom finds a lock that he can not pry his way into.

The motto of the newly organized hardware business in Cameron will be to carry a full and complete stock always having on hand what their customers want. Under the able management of Mr. Judd Davis, whose experience in the hardware business has been of long duration, there is little speculation as to the success of the new firm.

kind of school Mr. Kidd had described. He spoke of the magnificent bequest of a new high school building and 40 acres of land for the development of the agricultural department of the school given to the city by Mrs. C. H. Yoe, with only one condition and that was that the citizens of Cameron equip it and keep it as it should be. He then spoke of the generosity of the people of Cameron and because of this fact he knew they would respond readily to the plan to be suggested. This plan was to raise the tax from 50 cents a hundred dollars to 75 cents. This would give an additional $5,000 for our school. Mr. Wallace closed his speech by reading a petition to the city council asking them to order a special election not later than April 1st, to vote on this increased taxation for the purpose of enlarging and equipping the city schools. He then invited every one present to come forward after the meeting and sign this petition.

Dr. Epperson then called on Mrs. W. O. Triggs to tell how the women stood on this question. Mrs. Triggs pledged the support of the women of Cameron in working for the success of this movement. She stated that although the women couldn't vote on this, they could use their influence and this they intended doing.

The meeting was then turned into an open meeting and Dr. Epperson said that they would like to hear from some of the tax payers in regard to this matter. He first called on Hon. T. S. Henderson, who paid a splendid tribute to Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Yoe, telling how this gift to the citizens of Cameron was the culmination of a life long purpose in the hearts of these two worthy citizens. And how gladly and cheerfully they had worked and saved to give this wonderful blessing to the children of Cameron. Mr. Henderson ended by saying that he would gladly get under the load and help to equip and maintain a school worthy of the citizenship of any city.

Among the other tax payers who pledged their endorsement and support of this increased taxation were: Hon. W. G. Gillis, A. N. Weems, Judge

PLANT FEED CROPS INSTEAD OF COTTON

Good Season in the Ground Insures
Bumper Corn Crop and Now is
Time to Plant.

The following bulletins issued by the Texas Industrial Congress of Dallas, Texas, are of interest to every farmer and land owner in Milam county:

"With the present good season in the ground, Texas is assured of a good corn crop this year," writes R. W. Crawford of Muenster, to the state cotton acreage reduction committee. "The reduction of the corn acreage in northern and western states, combined with the guaranteed price for this year's wheat crop, makes certain a good price for corn. What better tip than this does a sensible farmer want? If he had half as much as good a hunch on oil he would go to his limit.

"Here is another tip he might consider: Banks and cotton buyers are helping to hold last year's crop; if the cotton acreage is not reduced, however, the farmer will find himself with the crop of 1919 in the position of the ghost the negro left.

"A negro and a ghost ran a five mile heat over bad roads; the negro became exhausted and dropped by the roadside, and when the ghost whistled to him, 'we are both here,' the negro answered, 'Yes, but dey won't be but one of us, jes' as soon as I gits my mind back.'

"The farmers in Cooke county are doing real diversified farming these days, and increased acreages of wheat, oats, corn and barley will reduce the cotton acreage fully 50 per cent. Our farmers still have a lingering bitter taste in their mouths from the six-cent cotton crop of 1914, which makes $1 corn and seventeen cent hogs look good.

"Some farmers have told me that cotton produces more money per acre than any other crop, but few of them know whether it clears more, and that is the point.

"The old negro that bought corn across the river for $1 a bushel, and then hauled it to the other side and sold it for the same price did a big business, but—well, if the farmers keep planting all cotton they have no 'edge' on the old negro."

Increasing the Farmer's Profits

Who gets the money that comes to a community from road improvement? The men who build the road and furnish the materials get it, but as they give work, bridge material, cement, or other things in return, it is plain that they give as much value as they get. Those who haul over the road are the ones who really get something for nothing, in a great saving in time and work and wear and tear on their teams and wagons, for the yearly 50 cents, or whatever it may be, on the $100 valuation of their property. In a number of counties in Virginia, in which government representatives took a traffic census before and after road improvement, the haulage cost was cut approximately one-half, a reduction from 33.5 cents to 15.7 cents per ton-mile. This means that every time a farmer drives to town and home again if he lives a few miles out, he saves in work and time the total amount of his year's tax for building the road and for keeping it in good shape. The farther away he lives the more he profits in haulage. If he hauls ten bales of cotton to market in one trip where he could formerly with much difficulty haul three, he makes the total amount of this yearly tax in one trip, and the saving on the remaining haulage during the entire year is clean profit.

The individual saving in haulage costs, which goes into the farmer's pocket cannot be expressed in dollars and cents, because one farmer will use a road more than another, and he will use it more in one year or one season than another. The annual saving for a county can be easily figured taking a traffic census on the roads, thus the annual saving for haulage cost over 1,232 miles of improved roads was $627,400 or more than $500 per mile. The cost of building was $3,330,070.21, or an average of $2,711 per mile. In other words, the roads are putting into the pockets of the farmers who use them approximately four times their cost in the twenty years of life of the bonds by the saving made in haulage cost, to say nothing of gains in farm values and community living.

Texas is learning that good roads are a profitable investment.

COMMUNITY SING SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR

Get Together Jollification Friday
Night Proved To Be Most Enjoyable Affair.

"The man who has not music in his soul Or is not stirred by the concord of sweet sound Is fit for treason, strategem and spoil, Let no such man be trusted."

Nothing is so inspiring and elevating to people as good music. Realizing this the "powers that be" in the army have given music a prominent and distinctive place. For there is nothing like music to keep up the morale of the soldier. There is nothing more resting and invigorating to a tired mind and body, and nothing so conducive to good fellowship as group singing.

Well what's good for the soldier is good for the civilian and all over the country we have seen a revival of the old-time community singing. Only today we have cut it down and call it community sings or sing songs. All the leading cities have them and great crowds of busy people gather and sing old songs with a sprinkling of the new, religious songs, rag time and patriotic songs.

And this is what was done in Cameron last Friday night. Under the auspices of the Symphony Club we had a community sing. Mrs. Myrtle F. Tucker, the director of the Symphony Club was assisted by Misses Goddard and Nowlin at the piano and by Prof. J. N. Crawford as leader of the singing.

Members of the High School Orchestra and several town musicians added to the occasion with their instruments.

A good crowd attended the sing and a very pleasant evening was spent singing the old and the new songs. The school children were there almost to a child. The high school sat in a body in the balcony and added pep, enthusiasm and melody to the occasion.

Mr. Crawford made a splendid conductor with his alertness and love of music. The selections were well made for every kind of song was found among those sung—they went from the sublime to the ridiculous and then back again. There were religious songs, patriotic songs, love songs, and call it anything you like—there was Ja Da.

Some of the songs were familiar, some had to be learned, but under the directions of the leader these new tunes were soon mastered and sung with a ring.

The Symphony Club deserves a vote of thanks and a full house for the next community sing, by the people of Cameron. Every one needs to relax and limber up and there's nothing like singing to do this. Singing makes a happy people.

The Symphony Club is to have a sing once a month. Lets come out and enjoy a good old fashioned get-together time. Men, women and children are invited to join in this movement of making Cameron people a singing people.

COTTON REDUCTION RESOLUTION ADOPTED

Action Taken at New Orleans—Milam Cotton Growers Pledge Themselves.

Following are the resolutions adopted at the Cotton State Acreage Reduction Convention held at New Orleans February 17th and 18th:

Resolved:
1st. That this Convention hereby declares that at this juncture a reduction of at least one-third of the 1919 cotton acreage as compared to 1918 cotton acreage, and the planting of largely increased food crops is imperatively necessary for the present welfare and future prosperity of the South, and this Convention and the several farmers, merchant and banker members thereof hereby pledge themselves in their several capacities through their own actions and through their determined influence, to produce the desired end.

2nd. That this Convention declares that if the foregoing acreage reduction platform is carried out, there will be no necessity to sell any part of the present crop for other than remunerative prices, and the Convention hereby pledges itself and its members and affiliations not to sacrifice the present crop but to hold the same until demand calls for it at such prices.

3rd. That the farmers, merchants and bankers of the South should organize their force and influence to the end that the acreage reduction and holding campaign shall be carried vigorously into every county and every subdivision thereof in every cotton growing state; that in furtherance of this intensive campaign those States which are already organized should earnestly prosecute the work so well begun, and those States which as yet are not organized should proceed at once to marshal their forces and in so doing should utilize the machinery of the State Councils of Defense, where available, and the State and County agents of the Agricultural and Educational Departments of such State; that in all counties in which public organization meetings have not been already held, such meetings should be held on Saturday, February 22nd, for the purpose of ratifying the acreage reduction and cotton holding movement and securing the written pledges of all concerned, and it is recommended that said day or such day as may be appointed shall be declared a holiday and all stores in such meeting place be closed.

4th. That any man who because his neighbors and the cotton producers generally are reducing cotton acreage shall for selfish ends undertake to profit through such general action by increasing his own acreage, or by refusing to reduce the same, such man shall be deemed so lacking in public spirit and good citizenship as to forfeit the confidence and support of the community in which he lives.

5th. That the several State organizations in charge of the movement should in the near future, at a Convention, send delegates to a meeting called by the said Chairman for the purpose of reporting upon the work accomplished and considering the formation of a permanent organization of the farmers, merchants and bankers of the South dedicated to the purpose of securing for the cotton producer a just return upon his investment of money or toil.

Cameron, Texas, Feb. 21, 1919.
We, the undersigned cotton growers of Milam County, Texas, hereby agree to reduce the cotton acreage on our land in 1919, one-third as compared to the cotton acreage in 1918, according to the plan adopted at Dallas, February 11th.

We will urge all of our neighbors, and those renting land from us, to make a like reduction.

We will accept as rent, one-third of all grain and all crops other than cotton, raised on said land during said year; said rent for grain and all crops other than cotton to be delivered on the rented premises where grown:

ELECTION ORDERED FOR SCHOOL TAX

Citizenship To Be Given Opportunity To Provide Needed Funds For City Schools.

The long looked for, the much needed and the election that must be carried, has been ordered. It is an election whereby funds will be made available to carry on the all important work of Cameron's public schools. Little does the general public know the condition that the schools of Cameron were about to get into, for until a recent enactment by the State legislature, it has been impossible for the citizenship of Cameron to vote another penny of tax upon themselves for any purpose whatsoever, regardless of how badly needed, unless a new city charter be drawn up, approved and voted upon by the citizenship. The State legislature changed this. For the new enactment allows an additional amount to be voted on in towns and cities with governments like Cameron, for the maintenance of public schools.

The Cameron Public School had just about gone it's limit. The available funds this year were adequate some ten years ago to care for the needs of the children and keep good teachers, but where is there a citizen in Progressive Cameron today that wants our public schools to be now what they were ten years ago.

A committee from the board of trustees appeared before the city council at the regular meeting Tuesday afternoon and presented a petition signed by enough tax-paying citizens to get an election ordered, the substance of which is as follows:

"That an election is to be held on the 1st day of April A. D. 1919, at the City Hall in the city of Cameron, Texas, in the Cameron Independent School District, to determine whether a majority of the legally qualified property tax paying voters of said district desires to increase the tax of fifty cents on the $100 valuation heretofore voted for the purpose of supplementing the school fund apportioned to said district and to determine whether the city council of the city of Cameron will be authorized to levy, assess and collect annually a tax of and at the rate of seventy-five cents on the $100 valuation of taxable property in said district for said purpose."

There should be no forecasting as to the outcome of this election, the majority should be unanimous. Cameron's schools must have this tax to be maintained up to the standard. It will be only a few months until our fair city can boast of one of the most magnificent high school buildings in the State, the gift of a noble woman and we must be prepared to equip this building, not only with needed furniture, but with able instructors, such as we can now boast of, but whom we cannot hope to keep without compensation which only this tax can supply.

BE AWAKE CAMERON—This bond issue must carry.

(Jane Cunningham Croley)

Marriage should be practically indissoluble; if it is not it is not marriage and has no force, no sacredness, no value. Instead of creating the family (which is the foundation of society and good government, it creates tribes of wandering, nomadic existences, bound together by no lay of duty, acknowledging no obligation, held by no tender cord of association, sympathy or companionship. To reorganize society on such a basis would be to return to the Fetichistic condition of the human race, to voluntarily relinquish all that has been gained of general moral and social elevation.

Looking Ahead.

It is not generally known, but it is possible that McLennan county may furnish the next governor of Texas, and he may be a newspaper man. We refer to the present comptroller of Texas, Henry Berriman Terrell, his name being freely mentioned at the state capitol. Other names among the rumor are Pat Neff, W. W. Woodson, B. F. Looney, Dr. S. P. Brooks, Wolfe of Dallas, and Railroad Commissioner Earle Mayfield. When it comes to furnishing suitable material for governor or any other office, McLennan county leads the world.

It is not known what Governor Hobby's aspirations are, whether he will ask for another term as chief executive, or desire to go to Washington as a congressman or senator.—Waco Union Standard.

Training Little Children

Learning to Play and Work With Others, the Child's First Lesson in Social Training—This Is The Biggest Contribution of the Kindergarten—Ways of Providing for it Even in Small Families.

Suggestions by mothers who have been kindergartners. Issued by the United States Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C., and the National Kindergarten Association, 8 West Fortieth Street, New York.

(By Mrs. Dora Ladd Keyes.)

I like to remember that Froebel said, "The nursery was my university." This statement gives every mother a bond of understanding and sympathy with Froebel and his ideals as they have been worked out in the kindergarten.

The best modern kindergartens center their programs largely around the natural home activities of the child. Hence even though mothers may find it impossible to secure kindergarten privileges for their children, materials and opportunities are close at hand with which to provide, to some degree at least, for this need.

Last February a laddie who was just "half past three," with hands well scrubbed and nails manicured, cut out thirty-eight valentine heart cookies for his mother. Before he had finished he learned to be neat, quick, firm of touch and economical in his spacing. In addition he was unconsciously gaining a sense of participation and co-operation and the feeling of being a "real help" to mother.

Last autumn the same little laddie gathered a large handful of scarlet summer seeds, which we plant every spring around the play fence.

Children love to have a place that is their "very own." My husband and I feel that the eight dollars we invested in a fence for a play yard for our two boys were well spent. The play yard is fifteen feet square and contains a little cherry tree, some grass and a large space from which grass has long since disappeared. Here we put a big sand pile which, when wet, supplied dough for all sorts of delectable bakery products, and when dry affords opportunities for constructing bridges and mysterious tunnels.

The play yard is the place for tea parties in the "hungry middle of the afternoon." It has not only supplied the needs of our own children, but it quite the social center of the neighborhood—too much so, one mother sometimes thinks!

Song, stories, hand work and nature study are important lines of kindergarten activity which a mother can pursue at home with the help of a few good books and her own resourcefulness. The child deprived of kindergarten is not so likely to suffer for want of these activities as for the lack of the social training which, to me, is the biggest contribution of the kindergarten. The child needs to play with other children. "Here," says Jean Paul, "the first social fetters are woven of flowers." And therein lies the unique value of the little play yard. Children learn there to give and take, to adjust themselves to each other and co-operate. They also develop the initiative that makes for leadership.

Play in the play yard is undirected so long as harmony prevails.

The neighborhood is the next larger natural group after the family and prepares the child for a conception of the larger school group and the community. In the summer I invite the children of the neighborhood—about sixteen in all—to come to our big lawn twice a week and join in our "Twilight Play Circle." During the winter I also invite them to come once a week to play indoors. We call the winter meeting our "Neighborhood Fun Club." I took my neighborhood as I found it and the children vary from 3 year olds to two eighth grade girls. One of the latter plays the piano for us and the other helps in numberless ways. I serve no refreshments.

Last winter we learned three simple folk dances and a number of the beautiful games that are so deeply rooted in the early social experiences of the race, such as "London Bridge" and "Here we go 'round the mulberry bush."

We also played other games suitable for a large number of children indoors, and learned about thirty riddles. Children who could read prepared special contributions, such as Robert Louis Stevenson. Two little girls sang duets for us, and one day we had a little guest who taught us some charming solo dances based on Mother Goose rhymes.

The children's love of the dramatic was shown by their fondness for guessing pantomimes. A child usually planned a pantomime beforehand and then invited others to help him work it out for the rest to guess. Our pantomime material was drawn largely from Mother Goose, Aesop's Fables and well known fairy tales.

Our "Fun Club" takes some of my precious spare time, as well as a considerable amount of energy, but I feel that it pays for myself as well as for the children. It makes me realize what Froebel's friend meant when he said, "It is like a fresh bath for the human soul when we dare to be children again with children."

Please pass this article on to a friend and thus help Uncle Sam reach all the mothers of the country.

A Self Starter.

It was young Mrs. Robinson's first party, and she was suffering the usual terrors of the inexperienced hostess. However, the cook arose to the occasion splendidly, and, so far as the dinner itself was concerned, Mrs. Robinson was delighted.

The only fly in the ointment was Jane, the new parlor maid; she was slow, clumsy, and her waiting was bad. But, in addition to these faults, she insisted on keeping her mouth open.

This so got on Mrs. Robinson's nerves that at last she exclaimed: "Jane, your mouth is wide open!"

Jane withdrew her gaze from the ceiling and said, looking down with a cheery smile: "I know it, ma'am; I opened it myself."—Pittsburg Chronicle Telegraph.

They Needed Him, Anyhow.

A soldier was pleading with his commanding officer.

"You are always on leave," exclaimed the commanding officer. "What on earth do you want special leave for now?"

"My sister's baby is going to be vaccinated, sir."

"And what has that got to do with you?"

"She's my sister, sir," explained Tommy, with a hurt look.

"What's the baby?"

"No, sir, the baby's sister's my brother—I mean I'm the mother's baby—er—the father's my sister. No, I mean—"

"You mean," broke in the commanding officer, angrily. "What do they want you for? That is the point."

"For a godmother, sir."—Edinburgh Scotsman.

AN APPEAL TO THE COLORED FARMERS OF TEXAS

Names is Names.

Dewey Corn lives at Antioch, Ohio.

I am sure you have been informed concerning the State-wide movement to reduce the cotton acreage.

On February 11th, 1919, an organization was formed at Dallas, Texas, for the purpose of putting forth an effort to reduce the cotton acreage by 33 1-3 per cent. This organization is composed of bankers' business men and cotton growers, representing every county in the State.

Now doubtless the question arises in your mind, "Why should I reduce the cotton acreage?" I will explain:

The time has come for greater co-operation. The business interests have realized the gravity of the cotton situation. The problem of cotton price making is indeed a great one, but remember that Texas has the brain and ability to solve any problem that may come before her. I am sure if all the farmers co-operate in this movement of cotton acreage reduction the cotton producer will no longer sell cotton below the cost of production.

The Commissioners of Agriculture, Marketing Bureau and Presidents of farmers' unions of the cotton states have put it up to the producers to reduce their acreage and avoid producing a surplus.

With the rainfall of last fall and winter, we can feel assured of a 15,000,000 bale crop or more. Now with the 8,000,000 bales that are being held is it not clear to you that that means a low price for 1919? February 22nd was pledge day, if you did not sign a pledge to reduce your acreage, I advise you to sign at once.

What shall I plant in the 1-3 acreage where I had cotton last year? Let me suggest that you plant more food and feed crops of some kind. As you well know we must help to feed a starving world and the high cost of food stuff is the greatest problem before the American people for solution.

In addition to your food and feed crops, plant legumes on your worn out places to enrich your soil. I advise that you write the State Department of Agriculture for information concerning planting legumes.

Yours truly,
C. W. Rice,

Colored Organizer, State Department of Agriculture.

Don't take calomel! Don't get sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tone straightens you right up and you feel great. Give it to the children as well.

ANNOUNCING THE Scaling Oil Corporation

The Scaling Oil Corporation is to be incorporated under the Laws of the State of Texas with an authorized capital of $300,000 divided into 300,000 shares with a par value of $1.00. All stock is common, fully paid and non-assessable, when issued, and each share will participate in all the company now owns or may acquire.

The company is under contract to begin drilling on the Scaling Ranch lease of 5,350 acres in the Southwest corner of Clay County, by the 20th of April, and our lease on the McFarland Ranch in the southwest part of Parker county provides that actual drilling be commenced by June 12th. Each of these wells is to be drilled to a depth of 3500 feet, unless oil or gas is found in paying quantities or the Ranger sand encountered, at a lesser depth. In addition to the above, the company owns leases on the following lands: 1653 acres in a solid body near Bellevue, Clay County, and we are advised that a deep test will be started very close to this acreage in a short time; 960 acres, 328 acres and 51 acres in southwest part of Parker county near the Sun Well which was reported on February 20th in the Dallas News as follows: "The report is that the Sun Oil Company has struck a good showing of oil at 3000 feet in the well located southwest of Weatherford on the Aterburn place. The well is shut down waiting for six inch casing." In event the above mentioned well should open up another pool our Parker county acreage would be worth many times our total capital stock. All our leases are for a term of five years or as long thereafter as oil or gas is produced in paying quantities and we will own seven-eighths of all the oil and gas produced.

Almost every acre of our holdings is in the Pennsylvania formation, from which most of the high grade oil of the world is obtained, and it is the opinion of our consulting geologists that the structural conditions are highly favorable for oil and gas on both our big leases where our first deep tests are to be drilled. Our clay county lease is midway between the Ranger and Duke pools on the south and the Burkburnett and Haldton (Oklahoma) pools on the north, and is practically surrounded by shallow fields and many deep tests drilling.

The possibilities of the investment may readily be seen when it is recalled that the company holds leases on more than 12,000 acres of very likely looking lands in the North Central Texas field, and, if proven oil producing, will be worth many millions and the drill will tell the story. As a testimony to the value of this offering over 100,000 shares were subscribed the first day in Fort Worth. The board has authorized the sale of only 200,000 shares at par and reserves the right to advance the price or withdraw this from the market at any time without notice, and in the event of an oversubscription your check will be returned.

In addition to the remarkable holdings of the company it is under the management of experienced oil operators and successful business men. Our Mr. W. E. Lawrence who has had many years of actual experience in the Mid-Continents oil fields, will have direct supervision of all the company's drilling operations. The Farmers and Mechanics National Bank of Fort Worth, Texas, the First National and Liberty National Banks of Tulsa, Oklahoma, and R. G. Dunn & Company are our references. HATCH EARLY

F. W. Kazmeier, Poultry Husbandman, Extension Service, A. & M. College of Texas.

Too many fail to realize the importance of hatching early. Poultry hatched too late is not profitable.

Leghorns, Anconas, Hamburgs and other small breeds, should be hatched in March and April.

Rocks, Reds, Wyndottes, Orpingtons, Sussex, Minorcas, and other medium weight breeds should be hatched in February and March.

Brahmas, Cochins, Langshans, and other large breeds should be hatched in January and February.

Early hatched pullets, will be larger and lay earlier than late hatched pullets. If hatched too late will not lay any eggs until in the Spring.

One of the requirements for fall and winter layers, is to hatch the pullets early.

If you desire eggs when they are worth five cents each or more hatch your pullets early.

Late hatched pullets can not produce fall and winter eggs.

Early hatched chicks are stronger and easier to raise than late hatched chicks.

Set your incubators and hens now. An early hatched chick is worth three late hatched chicks.

Early hatched cockrels can be sold as broilers at a fancy price of 35 to 50 cents and more per pound. Late hatched cockrels come on the market, when the markets are flooded with all kinds of poultry and a low price prevails.

Hatch early.

PLANT GOOD COTTON SEED

(By Walton Peteet, Specialist in Cotton Marketing, Extension Service, A. & M. College of Texas.)

While a substantial reduction of cotton acreage is very important, it is equally important that Texas farmers should at this time give serious thought to the kind of cotton they will raise this year. It is becoming increasingly difficult to sell short cotton of which there is a very large production in this state. While the surplus of low grades and short staples has made it rather difficult to sell cotton during the recent months, there has at all times a firm demand for the better grades which staple above 1 inch, and substantial premiums have been paid for this kind of cotton.

The wise thing for farmers to do this year is to plant good seed of some one of the approved good staple varieties of cotton, such as Lone Star, Rowden, Acala, Bennett and Truitt. These varieties are all of the big boll upland type, and they will yield as many pounds of seed cotton per acre and turn out as well at the gin as the shorter stapled varieties.

Cotton spinners, both in this country and in Europe, are coming to demand better staple cotton and the preferred lengths are 1 1-16 to 1 1-8 inches. Farmers who persist in growing half and half and similar varieties are certain to experience difficulty in selling their crop next fall.

Under the very loose and wasteful system of marketing cotton in Texas, growers of inferior varieties have in many instances received the same price as their neighbors who raise better cotton. But marketing conditions are undergoing a change and before another crop comes upon the market there is certain to be a just discrimination in local markets against the short staple product.

Great care should be exercised by farmers in buying seed, because large quantities of oil mill and gin run seed are being sold as first class planting seed of select varieties. I cannot too strongly advise farmers to purchase seed only from reliable and responsible parties, and in all cases to either satisfy themselves as to their quality or require a guarantee of purity and truthness to type.

Farmers who are in doubt as to the staple of the cotton they have been growing may send samples to me at 1308 Southwestern Life Building, Dallas, Texas, and I will report to them both its grade and staple.

55,000 Silos in Wisconsin

The farmers of Wisconsin have not only found out the truth in regard to silos, but they have been wise enough to take advantage of these benefits. Wisconsin has at least 55,000 silos in use today. There are districts where the silo can be found on every stock farm, and whole counties where practically the entire corn crop goes into the silo. Such demonstrations should be sufficient proof for stockmen to figure carefully on the silo problem.

CHIEF ENGINEER

Thought He Would Have To Stop
Working—Tanlac Makes Him
Well Again.

"To my mind Tanlac is the greatest medicine in the world," said O. H. Mahaffey, chief engineer of the Life & Casualty building, Nashville, Tenn.

"For two years," he continued, "I suffered awfully with the worst kind of stomach trouble and went down until I lost forty eight pounds. My back ached terribly and I suffered so much misery from indigestion that I thought I had an ulcerated stomach and was actually afraid to eat anything but a little oatmeal and sweet milk. I got weaker every day till finally, as nothing I took did me any good, I thought I would just have to throw up my job."

"My wife read in the papers where a man who had suffered like I was, had been helped by taking Tanlac, and she begged me to try it. After I had taken Tanlac a few days I began to get hungry and started in eating like I was starved, and nothing hurt me a bit. Soon those awful pains in my stomach and back were gone, I sleep fine at night now and get up in the morning full of life and energy and ready for my work."

Tanlac is sold in Cameron by the New Cameron Drug Company.

THIS TELLS HOW TO FIGURE INCOME TAX

Squarely Up to Every Individual to Get Busy by March 15 or Suffer Penalty.

"Don't wait until the final due date, March 15, for paying your Income Tax and making your return. Avoid the last minute rush. Any person can figure out his liability today as well as he can next week, and if there is any point on which he needs advice he can now get in touch with a Revenue man."

This word of advice is from Alexander S. Walker, Collector of Internal Revenue, Austin, who is collecting the Income Tax in Texas. Collector Walker is giving without charge every aid of his office and his enlarged field force to help the people get their payments and their returns in by March 15th.

But the Income Tax men will not pull your door-bell or your coat-tails, according to the Collector's announcement. It is squarely up to every individual to figure out his own case and to get busy if he comes within the scope of the new Revenue law.

Did You Earn This Much?

Every unmarried person who received income averaging $19.25 a week during 1918 and every married couple who jointly received income averaging $38.50 a week should secure at once from the nearest Deputy Collector or the nearest bank a blank Form 1040 A. That form contains the information he will need to enable him to figure his correct net income and any tax that he owes the government.

The law requires that every unmarried person who had a net income of $1,000 or over and every married person whose net income was $2,000 or over (including the income of husband or wife and the earnings of minor children, if any) must make a return on or before March 15th. And this requirement does not hinge on whether the person owes a tax.

Taxable Income.

An individual must include under gross income all gains, profits and income derived from salaries, wages or compensation for personal service of whatever kind and in whatever form paid or from professions, vocations, business, sales or dealings in property of all kinds, interest, rent, dividends or profits derived from any source whatever. Very few items of income are exempt.

Deductions include ordinary and necessary business expenses, interest paid or accrued on indebtedness, taxes of all kinds except Federal income and excess profits taxes and assessments for local benefits, losses actually sustained, debts ascertained to be worthless and depreciation on buildings, machinery, fixtures, etc., used in business. A further deduction is allowed for contributions to corporations operated for religious, charitable, scientific or educational purposes or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals to an amount not exceeding 15 per cent of the taxpayer's net income as computed without the benefit of the contribution deduction.

The taxpayer is not allowed to deduct any personal, living or family expense, any amount spent for improving property or any expense of restoring property or making good its exhaustion for which an allowance is claimed under depreciation.

Figuring the Tax.

Before figuring the normal tax the dividends are deducted as credits from net income, together with the personal exemption. As in previous years, dividends of domestic corporations are exempt from normal tax when received by the stockholder.

The normal tax rates for citizens and residents are as follows: On the first $4,000 of net income in excess of the credits the rate is 6 per cent; on any further taxable income the rate is 12 per cent.

The surtax rates apply to net income of each individual in excess of $5,000. The personal exemption and the dividends are not deductible before computing surtax. In the case of returns by husband and wife, the net income of each is considered separately in computing any surtax that may be due. Form 1040 should be used for making returns of net income exceeding $5,000, and the instructions on that form will show how to figure the surtax.

Business House Returns.

Employers and others who paid wages, salaries, rents, interest or similar determinable gains in an amount of $1,000 or over during 1918 to any person must file an information return with the Government. Blanks may be secured from the Collector.

Notice.

The impression seems to have gotten out that the Oil Mill is responsible in some way for the price of $20 per ton that has been prevalent up to a short time back on cotton seed hulls. This is entirely wrong. The Food Administration fixed the price on cotton seed and all its products and the price fixed by them on hulls was $20. Recently when Arkansas and Tennessee removed their restrictions on hulls and lowered their price and they were allowed to ship into Texas, the food administration then removed the $20 price that they had placed on hulls and mills were allowed to ship and sell them at lower prices. The Oil Mill here had nothing to do with the price put on them and in fact they paid $20 and freight for hulls and shipped them in here and sold them at a loss in order to keep the public from going without. Now that hulls are being shipped into the state and can be had for considerably less, they have been sold at the Oil Mill at $16 per ton out of the cars, and they may go cheaper still.

BAPTIST LOYALTY BOND CAMPAIGN GREAT SUCCESS

From all appearance it seems that the Baptist Loyalty Bond Campaign has succeeded. We have not yet had word from all the churches of the county, but the reports we have give assurance that we have more than raised our quota. Cameron church more than doubled her quota, and still the subscriptions come in.

Word from Dallas office to the effect that we have this week to round out the campaign and send in reports by the first of next week. Let all the churches make out their reports and send in to Dr. F. S. Groner, Dallas, at your earliest convenience. Send duplicate report to me.

I desire to thank the newspapers of the county for their hearty cooperation in making this campaign a success. Also all other agencies and persons who co-operated with us.

Baptist Loyalty Bonds are a good investment. "Buy Baptist Bonds."

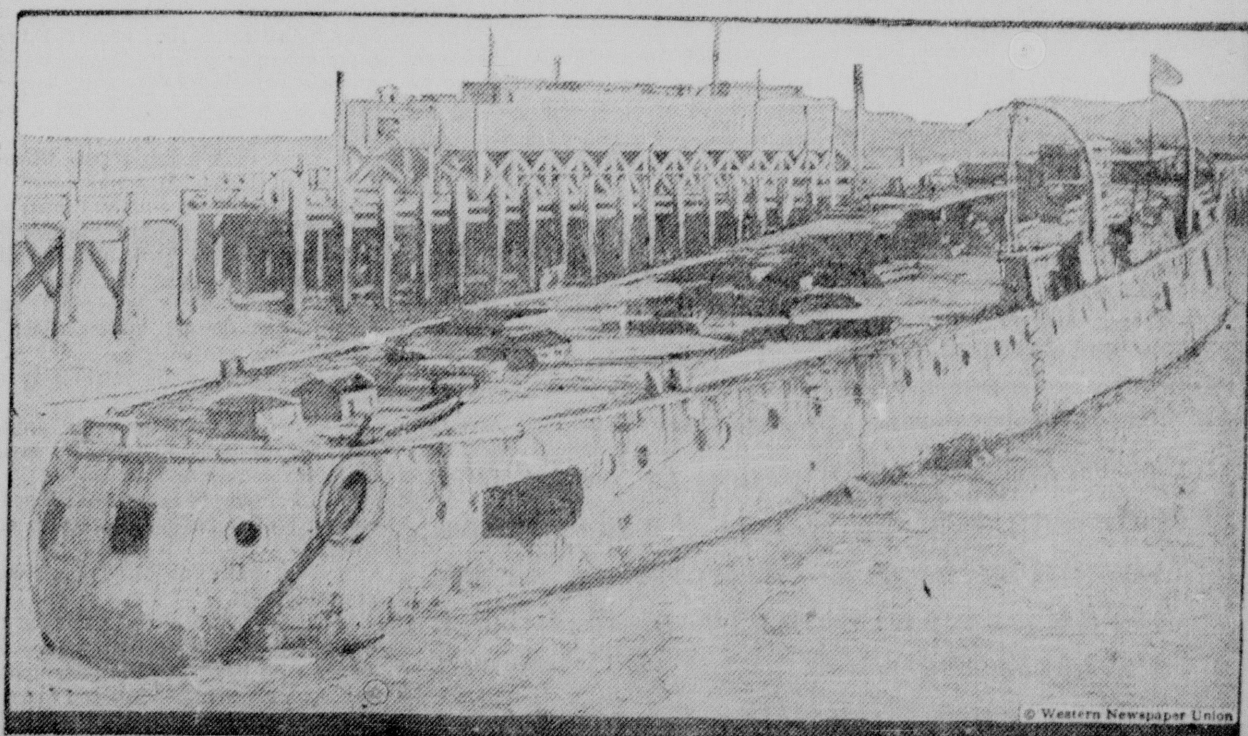

Respectfully,

RAYMOND CRISWELL
VISITOR IN CITY

Noble Son of Milam County Who Had
Thrilling Experiences Returns
Home Wounded.

Sergeant Raymond H. Criswell, wounded soldier in the battle of Verdun on September 29th, now in general hospital No. 6, Fort McPherson, Ga., is in Cameron this week visiting his sister, Mrs. J. B. Henry. Sergt. Criswell is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Criswell of Thordale and is married. Mrs. J. D. Roper of Burlington is also a sister to Criswell.

The story of Raymond H. Criswell's career as a fighting man for Uncle Sam does not start with the declaration of war with Germany by the United States and when the draft law went into effect, but with his enlistment in the regular army in 1912. Service was seen in various places including the Vera Cruz battle in Mexico.

On April 6th, 1917, when war was declared with Germany it found young Criswell in the best of trim and ready to do his full duty. In September of that year he was placed under heavy training at Camp Custer, Michigan and the following May was sent overseas. Not much easy sailing either was it for this Milam county son. A little over two weeks of sailing found the British ship "Muldaphy" on which he was crossing the sea and near the Irish coast on the 23rd a German sub sent the boat to the bottom of the ocean. There were 56 of the 500 soldiers on board lost, but Criswell was one of the lucky to survive. The survivors were carried into Dover, and after a few showers of bombs from the German planes while recuperating his company was equipped and sailed for Calais, France, and after a few days in rest camp moved to a point 14 miles from the city of Paris behind the German lines. On July 18, when the great offensive started Criswell was in the thickest of the fray. He was in the St. Mihiel drive on September 12th. He spent four days without rest, or sleep in the Argonne Forest and on September 29th in the Battle of Verdun, Sergt. Criswell received the wound that took away forever the use of his left arm, the entire muscle being shattered by a trench mortar.

Criswell was sufficiently recuperated by Thanksgiving to be sent back to America and it was on this day he sailed landing on December 15th and was immediately sent to where he is now stationed, General Hospital No. 6, Fort McPherson, Ga.

The story related by this noble son of Milam county who went to offer the supreme sacrifice is just what they will all have to tell. His description of the battles through which he passed are as fresh in his mind as if they had happened only today. His eye is keen to tell the exact date, hour and minute things happened.

All honor to the many boys of Milam county who are returning, let's extend a hearty welcome to each and every one on their return.

CHILTON CARRIED ROAD
BONDS WITH VOTES TO SPARE

Marlin, Texas, March 4.—The first road bond issue staged for 1919 was carried with such a large majority Saturday at Chilton, that the future campaigns to be staged by the various precincts of the county promise to follow the example and before many months, Falls county will be in the lime light, noted for modern highways and byways that will establish a reputation for the county. The three national highways will come in for their share of state and federal aid, when the precincts vote their districts in and within due time Falls county will come out of the mud and be high and dry all the year round, offering inducements to motorists to pass through, come to and inspect the modern routes to and from points of interest and commercial centers of the state.

GEORGE DID IT

By JOSEPHINE MURPHY.

(Copyright, 1918, Western Newspaper Union.)

In the cheerful democracy of Mrs. Allen's boarding house only Edith Fay disdained the front-step habit.

"You don't get a particle of breeze in that little room of yours," protested Mrs. Allen, friendly, from her rocking chair at the top of the steps: "you'd better join us squatters out here. The park smells cool and the fountain sounds cool, even if it is as hot as Kansas."

Young Mr. Day, whose legal practice was not generally believed to be large enough to require his presence in town during the summer, ceased staring at the park and glanced hopefully toward the girl. But she shook her head, smiling.

"I have to pack, you know," she answered.

"Pack?"

"Yes. I'm going to Pine Beach for the summer."

"Lucky girl! Pretty place."

"Have you ordered George?" called Mrs. Allen. "He can check your baggage through to destination now; it's a comfort. Unless you order him early he's likely to leave you in the lurch."

"I've attended to everything," said Edith, and floated off.

"You know," Mrs. Allen said, leaning forward, "she's going to the Pine Beach hotel as a sort of attraction, to sing. She hasn't enough voice for the opera, but they say she's great when she dresses up like a clown and sings ragtime."

Mr. Day muttered something about a walk and passed down the steps.

He returned an hour later to find the steps deserted, though the presence of the cushions seemed to indicate that the "squatters" would return. He sat down and began to fan himself. Presently Edith appeared.

"Oh!" she said, "I thought every one had gone for a ferry ride. I—"

"Please sit down and rest," said Mr. Day. "I think a breeze is coming up." After a second's hesitation she sank into Mrs. Allen's chair.

"Do you realize," he began, "that this is the first time I have been alone with you for weeks? Not since we went to 'Chin Chin' together."

"Has it been so long?" Her voice was soft and sweet.

"Edith, don't talk nonsense. You know I love you."

"Then you must not keep on. The conclusion would be painful to us both," she answered.

"Why should it be?" The light of battle was in his eyes.

"I know you could care for me if you would let yourself."

"It is not so," she replied, as she swept through the door and up the hall stairway.

"Heavens!" he exclaimed angrily. "She's not worth it. I'm done with her."

"Mr. Day has decided to go down to his mother's place on Long Island for the holiday," announced Mrs. Allen, as she hustled to get breakfast the next morning. "That reminds me, Jenny, he wants his bag checked for Bellport when George comes for Miss Fay's trunk. She's off, silly child, without any breakfast at all. She met Mr. Day in the dining room and they almost snapped each other's heads off when they said good morning. Here's George now. Jenny, go up with him and get the checks. Bellport, L. L. for the bag, and Pine Beach, N. J. for the trunk. Don't get them mixed, whatever you do."

"Now," said the proprietor of the Pine Beach hotel angrily, "I'll do right by you if you do right by me. But you're not doing right when you come down here without your properties. You should have seen to it that your trunk was on the same train with you. If it doesn't come on this last train, you won't need it at all."

"Here comes the porter now," cried Edith with a new hope. "Maybe he's found it. No, that isn't mine. Mine's a trunk, not a bag."

Nevertheless the porter deposited the suitcase with a tip-expecting smile. Edith glanced at the painted letters, "E. L. Day, Bellport, L. I.," she read.

"You need not send again to the station," she said. "There has been a mistake. I should like to be called for the first train in the morning."

A bright-eyed woodchuck was the only living thing that shared Edith's early morning at Pine Beach station. A train wheezed in, bearing express packages, papers, a trunk and a solitary passenger.

"I tried to telegraph you when I discovered this ridiculous blunder," began Mr. Day with the distant mien of a recently rejected suitor. "I took the last train to New York and the first down here."

"I'm sorry you bothered," said Edith. "It doesn't matter now, he doesn't want me—"

"Who doesn't want you?" Day demanded with fervor.

"The Pine Beach man—or anyone else, I dare say. You see he says I broke my contract—"

"Oh, he does, does he? We'll see if we can't alter his opinion as to contracts."

"I don't want you to. I don't want any contracts."

It was so still that by-and-by the woodchuck ventured out again. He stared with beady-eyed gravity upon a young man who dried a lady's tears by kissing her eyes. Then he scrambled back into the forest, pondering upon the words which had broken the stillness.

"God bless George."

REPORTS WHEAT CROP
85 PER CENT NORMAL

W. A. Thomas Expects Conditions
To Improve With Favorable
Weather.

Unfavorable weather of the last month has injured the wheat crop of North Texas, the present condition being 85 per cent normal, according to a report made by W. A. Thomas, agricultural secretary of the Security National Bank of Dallas. The crop is not so promising as it was a month ago, but favorable weather is expected to overcome this damage.

The acreage seeded to oats will be somewhat decreased on account of the lateness of the season. Many farmers are planting oats in mud and without preparation of the seedbed. The continued agitation for reduction of cotton acreage will cause more oats to be planted, even though the season is late. There seems to be no question about the position of the farmers in regard to cotton reduction.

"The great question for the farmer is what to substitute for cotton," Mr. Thomas said. "The question is all the more acute on account of the lateness of the season. There seems to be a growing sentiment toward increase of the corn acreage. The plan is to feed the corn to stock so that the money will be realized through the sale of the stock. Tenants have been encouraged to a considerable extent by landowners to increase the acreage in corn. The large landowners seem to be wide awake to the question of diversification and are taking every means at their disposal to induce tenants to practice same. This movement includes encouragement of the tenants to raise more hogs and sheep."

Mr. Thomas said that the farmers who are holding cotton are nervous over the situation, but are inclined to hold for higher prices. They believe that the prices will advance in the near future. But the situation has so affected them that the reduction of acreage will be fully 33 per cent. There are large quantities of cotton exposed to the weather. Unless immediate steps are taken the loss on this account will be very large.

Symphony Club Meets.

The Symphony Club had a most interesting and delightful meeting last Saturday afternoon at three o'clock with Misses Rose and Nowlin at the residence of Mrs. J. W. House.

Mrs. Roy Baskin the leader introduced the program for the afternoon in her charming manner. Schumann was the subject under discussion and the following enjoyable program was carried out:

Sketch of Schumann's life—Mrs. Leo Wilkerson.

Song—"Goodnight Pretty Stars"—Mrs. Tucker, Misses Rose and Nowlin.

Violin Solo—Tramferei—Miss Olive Henderson, accompanied by Mrs. R. P. Jeter.

Song—"Thou Art Most Like a Flower"—Mrs. J. L. Clinton.

Criticism of Schumann's Composition—Miss Ruth Goddard.

Mrs. T. S. Henderson read one of the selections from "Love Letters of a Musician" while Miss Ruth Sprinkel played Schumann's Marum.

All of the parts on the program were beautifully and entertainingly given. The next meeting will be two weeks from Saturday at Mrs. T. C. Stafford's at which time they will have chorus practice.

Six O'Clock Dinner.

Last Friday Miss Martha Lou Hooks celebrated her thirteenth birthday and in honor of the occasion her mother, Mrs. James Hooks gave her a six o'clock dinner.

Places were laid for ten little girls who were special friends of Martha Lou. The table was beautifully decorated having for its center piece an exquisite bunch of red carnations.

An elegant coursed dinner was served and a jolly good time had. Those enjoying the hospitality were: Misses Olive Henderson, Pauline Green, Ruby Caton, Sallie Coleman, Eloise Rogers, Ruth Kemp, Mary Francis Green and Mabel and Mildred Aiken.

Masquerade Party

At the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. R. McCown, Wiltz gathered a merry crowd of his young friends for a party last Friday night. It was a masquerade party and the young folks came in all sorts of costumes which added to the fun of the occasion.

Old fashioned games, music and progressive conversation were the way the evening was spent. During the games delicious punch and cake were passed at frequent intervals by Mrs. McCown.

CHILD CONSERVATION OBSERVED AT CITY CHURCHES

Sunday special services in the interest of Child Welfare were conducted at the different churches of the city.

At the Methodist church Sunday morning after special music by the choir and a solo by Mr. McLane, Rev. W. G. Harbin preached a splendid sermon on child conservation.

At the Baptist church the evening service was given over to this subject. Mr. L. H. Kidd, superintendent of the city schools gave an interesting and instructive talk on Child Welfare, after which Miss Minnie Wolf in her charming way gave a very impressive reading. The sermon was preached by Dr. E. G. Townsend of Baylor College which was enjoyed by all present. Special music was furnished by the choir.

Sunday night at the Presbyterian church the pastor, Rev. McFadyen, preached on Child Conservation, after a special song service by the choir assisted by Mr. McLane.

Shower for Miss Lil Jeter.

Friday afternoon the Kilkare and Sigma Phi Clubs had a shower for Miss Lil Jeter, who is convalescing in the sanitarium from an operation.

Before going to the sanitarium the club members met with Miss Winnie Henderson when a picture-book for Miss Lil was prepared by the guests. After which the hostess assisted by Miss Ada Henderson served a salad course.

A basket lined with flowers and filled with pretty things topped by a large green maline bow was then taken to Miss Lil. Here the guests had lots of fun watching the honoree open the mysterious packages while they enjoyed chocolate candy.

Miss Hattie Darron of Waco was a week-end visitor of Dr. and Mrs. Jim Watson.

Priscilla Club With Mrs. H. M. Hefley

Mrs. Henry M. Hefley entertained the Priscilla Club last Thursday afternoon. The meeting was enjoyed by nearly all of the members and a number of invited guests. Bowls of violets and other spring flowers were used in the decoration of the house. The afternoon was devoted to the making of dainty hand-work. Mrs. Hefley assisted by Miss Sallie Kate McLane served a salad course during the pleasant hours at her home.

The guests of the club were Mesdames L. H. Krough, W. A. Bonds, J. L. Clinton and Chester A. Farris of Arlington and Misses Annie Bowman of Mooreville and Sallie Kate McLane.

Those Women Officers

The American army has women soldiers in the ranks, and not only women soldiers but women officers leading United States troops. At least, that is what the Germans thought as they saw the Y. M. C. A. canteen workers in uniform marching at the head of the troops when the first division entered the city. The canteen women marched to the special request of the units to which they were attached. The Y. M. C. A. canteen at Coblenz, the first in Germany, attracted the attention of the Germans, who marveled at the "luxuries" that the American troops took quite as a matter of course.

Tag Day.

Monday was tag day in our city. It was Child Welfare day all over Texas and the proceeds from tag selling was to be used for the benefit of the children in the town or community where the tags were sold.

This movement was carried on in Cameron under the direction of the city school and the Parent-Teacher Association and the funds collected will be used to help pay for the musical instruments and other equipment recently purchased for the school children.

Two hundred and twenty-five dollars worth of tags were sold. Of this amount the school children bought a hundred and ten dollars worth, while the parents of these children came forward with the hundred and fifteen. This money was gladly given because the people knew that it was going to be well used.

"America" on the Rhine

"America" was sung for the first time on the banks of the Rhine by American soldiers on the night that the men of the First Division of the American Army of Occupation entered Coblenz. The concert, the most enthusiastic and inspiring of its kind ever given, was under the auspices of the army Y. M. C. A. who have put up their Red Triangle sign over the door of the big Fest Halle in Coblenz.

"LES MISERABLES" TO BE SHOWN AT WONDERLAND

The Pathe Company has a new version of Victor Hugo's masterpiece, "Les Miserables." The feature, directed by Albert Capellani, is in eight parts and stars Henry Kraus, France's leading dramatic actor, in the world famous character of Jean Valjean.

M. Kraus is the most famous actor in France. He made a hit in this country in the six part production of Zola's "Germinal," one of the best known works in French literature and one of the first big features to be seen in America.

He is supported in "Les Miserables" by a splendid cast, including Mile. Mistinguett as Epouine, and Marie Fromet as Cosette.

Mile. Mistinguett starred in Pathe's "The Siren," released in five parts about two and a half or three years ago. Mile. Fromet is France's most famous child actress.

When "Les Miserables" was first shown in the United States it scored a triumph, running at Carnegie Lyceum, New York, for several months. Manager Hefley of the Wonderland Theatre, in keeping with his progressive policy, has negotiated with Pathe for a booking and expects to present "Les Miserables" on Tuesday, March 11th.

Miss Annie Bowman returned to Mooreville Monday after a pleasant visit to her sister, Mrs. Jim Watson.

Dr. Wood Finley of New York City visited his mother, Mrs. Finley and sister, Mrs. W. T. Hefley this week.

W. M. Brown of Buckholts was in Cameron on business Wednesday.

Put It In Your Plans.

Put what in your plans? Why, to go to church every Lord's day. That is what the day is for. "A day in thy courts is better than a thousand," said the Psalmist. "I had rather be door keeper in the house of God than to dwell in the tents of wickedness." Try it, brother, and see if you do not find pleasure and profit in attending the service at the house of God. The church going habit is like all other habits. It is done by "doing it" and thereby becomes easy when we get the habit. But, on the other hand, when we get out of the habit of going to church, it is mighty easy to find some other thing to do on Sunday morning or evening.

Your minister not only needs your financial support, but he needs your moral support as well. He can't do his best work without your support. Be in your church services next Sunday, both morning and evening. Encourage your pastor with your presence. He will preach better. Try it. You are always welcome at all the services at the Baptist church. Services morning and evening.

We have supplied our famous Cookers to more than a million homes. But we want every home using Quaker Oats or Mother's Oats to have one. So we repeat for one week only this attractive Dollar Offer.

Now a Very Costly Offer

This to us, at present aluminum prices, is a very costly offer. Yet we have those Cookers made to our order in enormous lots.

Such an Aluminum Cooker, extra large and heavy, would probably cost at retail more than you care to pay. But you need it to cook cereals rightly. So we want you to have it—for your sake and our sake—if you are cooking our cereals without it.

If you have this Cooker, our offer is not open. We cannot supply more than one to a family. But, if you failed to get one, get it now. This offer is made for one week only. It cannot be repeated unless Aluminum comes down.

Keep the Rich Flavor Intact

Quaker Oats and Mother's Oats are made from queen grains only—just the rich, plump, flavory oats. We get but ten pounds from a bushel.

This is done to secure a superlative flavor. Little grains, puny and insipid, lessen oat-food delights.

Now we ask you to cook these luscious oat flakes so that flavor keeps intact. Cook them so they easily digest. This Cooker will help you to do that, as it does a million others.

It is yours for $1 if you send this week. And if you send the sales slip asked for, to show that you are using this delicious grade of oats. You will save enough to buy a great deal of cereal by accepting this dollar offer.

Your Last Chance to Get It

Buy from your grocer five packages of either Quaker Oats or Mother's Oats. Or buy four packages of the oats, and one of either Quaker Best Corn Meal or Quaker Hominy. PAY AND FILE INCOME TAX BEFORE MAR. 15

U. S. Internal Revenue Bureau Gives Warning That Severe Penalties Will Be Enforced.

WOMEN WITHIN LAW'S SCOPE; HOW THEY REPORT INCOME

The Income Tax drive comes to a close on Saturday night, March 15.

The payments and returns due on that date under the provisions of the new Revenue Law must be in the hands of local Internal Revenue Collectors before their offices close that night.

The Income Tax is being collected to meet the war expenses. Every person who shouted and tooted his horn on Armistice Day is now called upon to contribute his share of the cost of winning the war.

The laggards and the dodgers will face severe fines and jail sentences. The Internal Revenue Bureau announces that its officers will check us all up to see that every person who comes within the scope of the Income Tax law did his share.

Where to Pay and File.

Residents of Texas are required to make their returns and pay their taxes to Alexander S. Walker, Collector of Internal Revenue, Austin, Tex., or to deputy collectors who are now doing free advisory work on Income Tax.

Payments sent by mail should be attached to the returns and should be in the form of check, money order or draft. Cash payments by mail are sent at the taxpayer's risk of loss.

If you are unable to make your return personally because of illness, absence or incapacity an agent or legal representative may make your return.

If there are any doubtful points as to your items of income or allowable deductions you should get in touch at once with a Revenue officer or a banker for advice.

Women Pay Tax.

Women are subject to all the requirements of the Income Tax. Whether single or married, a woman's income from all sources must be considered.

If unmarried or if living apart from her husband she must make her return for 1918 if her net income was $1,000 or over.

If married and living with her husband her income must be considered with the husband's in determining the liability for a return. Their joint income, less the credits allowed by law, is subject to normal tax. The wife's net income is considered separately in computing any surtax that may be due. Husband and wife file jointly, as a rule. If the husband does not include his wife's income in his return the wife must file a separate return.

Severe Penalties.

The new Revenue Law places severe penalties on a person who fails to make return on time, refuses to make return or renders a fraudulent return. For failure to make return and pay tax on time a fine of not more than $1,000 is named and 25 per cent of the tax due is added to the assessment. For refusing willfully to make return or for making a false or fraudulent return there is a fine of not exceeding $10,000 and imprisonment of not exceeding one year, or both.

Farmers' Income Taxable.

Every farmer and ranchman who had a fair or a good year in 1918 must heed the Income Tax this year. He must consider all his income as taxable. He is entitled to deduct from his gross income all amounts expended in carrying on his farm. The cost of farm machinery, farm buildings and improvements cannot be deducted. The cost of live stock, either for resale or for breeding purposes, is also regarded as investment.

Overtime and Bonuses Taxed.

Salary and wage earners must consider as taxable every item received from employers and from other sources. Bonuses and overtime pay are to be reported as well as the regular payments.

Allowances for Losses.

Losses sustained in 1918 and not covered by insurance are deductible items if incurred in the taxpayer's business or trade, in any transaction undertaken for profit or arising from fire, storm, shipwreck or other casualty or from theft.

SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERY INCOME TAX PAYER.

Washington, D. C. — "The rights of all persons now filing Income Tax returns are amply protected by provisions for abatements, refunds and appeals," says Commissioner Daniel C. Roper. "Every person can be sure of a square deal. No person is expected to pay more than his share of tax. His share is determined solely by the amount and nature of his net income for 1918, as defined in the law. Abatement petitions are dealt with open-mindedly. Refunds will be made in every case where too much tax is erroneously collected. 'The Income Tax is 'on the level' all the way through.'"

Soldiers Keen For Sports

In spite of the thinning out of the camps and the unsettled conditions since the signing of the armistice, the number of soldiers in the Southern liam E. Day, Supervisor of Athletics in proportion to the camp population is greater than ever. This is revealed by the last month's report of William E. Day, Supervisor of Athletics for the Southern Department of the Army Y. M. C. A. Over 27,000 soldiers participated in "formal" athletics, football games, base ball, track meets, etc., and nearly 200,000 in "informal" sports and games. These figures do not include 71,660 men who took the compulsory physical training required by the military authorities. The corresponding figures for December are: Formal athletics, 30,037; informal, 229,514; compulsory 96,292.

HIS FARMERETTE

By NELLIE A. DELANEY.

(Copyright, 1918, Western Newspaper Union.)

Martha Colby added a few finishing touches to the already spotless kitchen.

Tonight four girls were coming from the city to work on the farm. Mr. Colby found male help impossible to secure, so at last he gave up and advertised for farmerettes.

Martha brushed back the jet black hair from her forehead, put on a fresh blue gingham dress, a white, stiffly starched apron, and before she could get to the kitchen a loud pealing of the door bell announced the arrival of the new farm hands. She opened the door nervously, and there stood four fashionably dressed girls. Laughing and chatting merrily, they followed the now more than ever nervous Martha.

In the dining room Tom Colby, born farmer, showed plainly that life on a farm had not made him any different from the rest of the sterner sex. He gazed admiringly at each pretty girl, and Martha could not remember when he had talked so much, but instead of the uneasy feeling leaving her it grew more apparent, and she tried in vain to hide the red hands, rough from heavy work.

Married at sixteen, then ten years of hard work to help pay off the mortgage on the little farm, made Martha feel more like forty than twenty-six.

Before the first meal was over Martha was experiencing a feeling absolutely new to her. She was thinking of the long evenings when Tom, after a hard day's work, would go to sleep in his easy chair, then the long, lonesome evening must be passed in silence. Tonight he was wide awake, and after supper, through the open window Martha watched him eagerly show the four girls the different places on the farm. She turned from the window, and the ugly pain that had started at supper, increased with great rapidity, nor could she explain its meaning, for Martha was experiencing jealousy for the first time in her life. She hated the four rosy-cheeked girls with their city ways; she hated the way they plastered their hair around their ears, entirely covering them, and she felt that she almost hated her beloved Tom.

As the days wore on Martha became more silent and miserable. One day she got up courage to ask Tom what he thought of the farmerettes, and he expressed himself in one word, "peaches." Then it was true, she told herself, Tom was slowly slipping away from her, and walking into the next room the big brown eyes filled with tears.

"Why the tears, girlie?" a musical voice sounded behind her. The blood rushed to Martha's cheeks as the prettiest of the four farmerettes approached her. "I forgot my powder puff," she added by way of explanation for coming back from the field.

Martha's first impulse was to run away; instead, womanlike, she burst into tears, and let the girl she hated lead her to the chair and coax from her the reason why she wept. Putting her arm around Martha, she whispered: "Little country girl, you are jealous without cause; why, you are five times as pretty as any city girl. But as we are going back to the city tonight, let's prove that fact to your husband. He is going to drive us to the station, but before we go we will fix you up a little—only," she added, "we can't put any more roses in those cheeks." After much whispered planning, they separated.

That night, as Tom Colby sat in the wagon waiting for the four girls to appear, it seemed to him it took them a long time to bid Martha good-by. They finally appeared, and Tom drove them to the station. He did not wait for the train; somehow, tonight he longed to pass a pleasant evening alone with his wife; he had made up his mind there was just one little farmerette in the world for him, and that was Martha.

As he drove into the yard, he was a little surprised that Martha did not come to meet him, as was her custom. Throwing the reins to the hired man, he hurried into the kitchen. The supper dishes were still in the pan, and the table had not been cleared.

A feeling of fear came over Tom, and he hurried into the bedroom. There on the floor in a crumpled heap was the familiar blue gingham dress. A slight noise in the parlor turned his attention there, and pushing open the door he beheld Martha in a blue silk dress, white slues and stockings, and, worst of all, the beautiful black hair was pulled tightly over two pink ears.

Tom stared for some minutes in silence, then Martha asked sweetly: "Do I look so strange in pretty clothes, Tom? Don't I look as good as the four farmerettes?"

"Why, Martha, girl," Tom replied slowly, "there's just one farmerette in this world for me, and that's my Martha, but it took four city girls to wake me up to that fact, but," he added, wistfully, "I like you best in the blue gingham, with your hair done the other way."

The following week a little stenographer in a stuffy office stopped pounding the keys of her typewriter long enough to read a postcard from her country friend, and she smiled happily at its contents: "It worked fine, dear, but I am still wearing my gingham dress, and he won't let me wear my hair over my ears."

TEXASOPEN HIGHWAYS BECOME
NECESSITY TO BUSINESS

It is noted in the news that a four-ton truck has carried 150 crates of eggs from Southern New Jersey to Philadelphia without cracking a shell, says the Christian Science Monitor.

This is just an incident in a tremendous transportation industry over the highways which has been built up as a result of war time conditions but which seems likely to expand rather than diminish now that the war is over. This mode of transportation has one admirable aspect that is often overlooked. With so many motor trucks on the roads it has become necessary to keep all important highways open to traffic the winter through. That makes it easier for the farmer to get to town with his produce, which makes more business for the local merchants, which in turn, makes greater need for motor trucks to haul their goods. Open highways have become a necessity to business, a boon to private motorists and a blessing to farmers.

EVERYBODY IS NOW FIGURING INCOME TAX

In Order to Be Helpful to Public,
Internal Revenue Bureau
Has Every Available
Officer in Field.

SEVERE PENALTIES IF YOU
DELAY BEYOND MARCH 15

With the due date for Income Taxes only a few weeks away, the collection of this far-reaching tax on 1918 incomes has started off with a bang. Everybody is figuring income tax.

Payments and sworn statements of income must reach Internal Revenue offices on or before March 15, and there are severe penalties for delinquency.

Residents of Texas are required to make their returns and pay their taxes to Alexander S. Walker, Collector of Internal Revenue, Austin, Tex., or to deputy collectors who are now doing free advisory work on Income Tax.

"Pay your Income Tax by March 15," is the slogan of the Internal Revenue Bureau, which has sent every available officer into the field to help the public to understand the requirements and to prepare the returns.

Who Must Make Return.

It is estimated that many thousands of single and married persons in this section of the United States who have never before made annual returns are required to do so this year.

Income tax returns must be made between now and March 15 by persons who come under the following classifications:

Any unmarried person whose 1918 net income was $1,000 or over. Widows and widowers, divorcees and married persons who are living apart from their husbands or wives, are for the purposes of the Income Tax classed as unmarried.

Any married person living with wife or husband whose 1918 net income was $2,000 or over. The income of both husband and wife must be considered, together with the earnings of minor children, if any.

Revenue Bureau Offers Aid.

Each person in the United States who is in either of these classifications must get busy at once if penalties are to be avoided. He should secure a blank Form 1040 A for reporting net income up to $5,000, or Form 1040 if his net income exceeded that amount. Forms are being distributed by Collectors and their Deputies, also by banks. By following the instructions on the forms a correct return can be prepared at home. If a person needs advice or aid, the Deputy Collectors in the field will furnish this without charge.

The new Revenue law places the Income Tax duty on citizens and residents. The Internal Revenue Bureau is sending its men to work right with the public to get the tax and the returns in. With active co-operation every tax due March 15 will be paid and every return required by law will be in the Revenue offices on time.

Exemptions Allowed.

A single person is allowed a personal exemption of $1,000. If he is supporting in his household relatives who are dependent upon him he may claim the status of the head of a family who has the same exemption as if married.

A married person who lives with wife or husband is allowed a personal exemption of $2,000. The head of a family is entitled to claim a similar personal exemption.

An additional exemption of $200 is allowed for each person under eighteen or incapable of self support who was dependent upon and received his chief support from the taxpayer.

A husband and wife living together are entitled to but one personal exemption of $2,000. If they make separate returns the exemption may be claimed by either or divided.

Accuracy Required.

Absolute accuracy is necessary in making up income figures. Any person who is working for wages should find out exactly how much he received during the whole year 1918. Fees, bank interest, bond interest, dividends, rents received and all other items must be reported correctly. Mere guesses are not accepted, for they are unjust alike to the taxpayer and the Government and defeat the proper administration of the law.

INCOME TAX IS TRULY POPULAR.

"The payment of Income taxes takes on a new significance which should be understood by every citizen. The taxation system of this country is truly popular, of the people, by the people and for the people. Every citizen is liable to tax, and the amount of the tax is graduated according to the success and fortune attained by each individual in availing himself of the opportunities created and preserved by our free institutions. The method and degree of the tax is determined by no favored class, but by the representatives of the people. The proceeds of the tax should be regarded as a national investment."—Daniel C. Roper, Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

FIFTH IN FIGHTING MEN FIRST IN VICTORY LOAN

Ranking fifth in the number of enlisted men furnished the U. S. Army by states, Texas with its contribution of 161,065 men not only exceeded the enlisted strength of the entire regular U. S. army of 1917 (121,797 men), but achieved a new record for patriotism and loyalty as well.

Texas with a population of five million gave 161,065 of her sons as against New York's enlistment of 367,864, with a population of over nine million. The three other states following New York's lead are Pennsylvania with 297,891 men; Illinois, 251,074; Ohio, 200,293.

The promptness and willingness with which the state responded to the call of an unprepared nation suddenly plunged into a disastrous war that has racked the entire world should be a source of pride and gratitude for every Texan.

They have given the Lone Star a new lustre; have kept her escutcheon free from blot or stain, and have attained everlasting honor for their high courage and their performance of duty.

In the coming Victory loan every Texan will be given the chance of rising to the standard set by the state's enlisted men. Fifth place in contribution to fighting strength of the nation is no mean distinction for a state with a population as scattered as that of Texas. In meeting the country's war debt through the Fifth Liberty Loan, Texas will have the opportunity of acquiring first place in subscriptions to the Victory Liberty Loan. In this way only can she match the superb sacrifice of her men who have given to the utmost for her salvation and honor.

VOLUME 41

CAMERON, MILAM COUNTY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, MARCH 6, 1919

NUMBER 44

NEEDS OF SCHOOL WERE DISCUSSED

Rousing Meeting Held Monday Night
And Plans Outlined For Schools
In Cameron.

A meeting for the betterment of the most needed institution in Cameron, the public schools, was held in the district court room Monday night of this week. The attendance was about one-tenth what it should have been, considering the importance of the occasion.

The meeting was called to order by Prof. L. H. Kidd who stated that the object was to get money for the school. Dr. A. S. Epperson, chairman of the school board, after this, presided and the first talk was made by Miss Mildred Chambers, a member of the junior class. Miss Chambers delivered a most impressive talk on the need of domestic economy in the Cameron Public School. She related that in order for the Cameron girls to be up to the standard that in the public school of Cameron the training must be up to the standard, or the girls will fall short. Miss Mildred made a number of good points showing the need of this important branch of work in the public schools.

Superintendent L. H. Kidd next spoke on what was needed in a general way. He said what was needed and what would be provided were entirely two different things. "Whatever the community desires they will have, you have been well satisfied with what you have had, well enough that you have, it has in part, been up to the standard, but now the standard has been raised, we cannot look back, we cannot stand still, we must go forward," said Prof. Kidd. The speaker enumerated a number of things that were badly needed in Cameron for the school to progress, including the home economics department, a commercial department and an agricultural department. "Our school will be overflowed next year beyond all control with the present corps of teachers and equipment, it is necessary that we grow and we must grow. A good school in a community is the best drawing card you can have. When the new Yoe Memorial High School building is erected and occupied you will see 100 families move into Cameron. Now you know what this means. They will spend one thousand dollars per year per family and any one that can figure sees this means one hundred thousand dollars per year turned into the business channels of the town. But in order to take care of this big increase that is bound to come we must have for next years two more teachers in the grades." Prof. Kidd outlined that thirty-six pupils was the standard for any teacher to have but related that the grade teachers in the Cameron schools had from forty to as high as fifty-three in one grade reciting one lesson at the same time.

"Another important matter that should have attention; your teachers should be paid a living salary. The average salary to the teachers in your school is $60.00 per month, dividing this into twelve months, she is drawing $45.00 per month, it takes $32.50 per month to pay her board, $5.00 per month for laundry, stamps, money for the missionary box and incidentals, $2.50 per month, leaving $5.00 per month and when a teacher needs a pair of new shoes it takes her three months to pay for same. The average increase in the cost of living is 82 per cent. The average increase in wages is 62 per cent and the average increase in salaries paid teachers, the world today, is about 12 per cent. My friends it is up to you to do something. You must have more money for your schools. If necessary, double your tax. You might say that you cannot double the tax, that the city charter will not permit. Change your charter so that it will permit." Prof. Kidd outlined the percentage of taxation out of 150 schools that had been figured, the rate runs from 50 per cent valuation to 125 per cent valuation and the average was 77 per cent. Cameron's per cent is only 50. "We must at least move up to the standard" declared Mr. Kidd.

The next speaker of the evening was Mr. E. A. Wallace who told how the people of Cameron could have the

HARDWARE BUSINESS IS REORGANIZED

"Milam County Hardware Company"
New Name of Old Reliable Firm
In Cameron.

Announcement was made the first of the week that the hardware business which has been conducted in Cameron for the past ten years, under the name of Tyson-Freeman-Holtzclaw Company, had been reorganized.

The reorganization of this firm gives Cameron and Milam county one of the strongest retail hardware concerns in Central Texas. A new charter will fully paid capital stock amounting to $18,000.00 has been granted. The incorporators are B. P. Atkinson, Judd Davis and A. C. Freeman. The officers are as follows: B. P. Atkinson, President; Judd Davis, Vice-President and General Manager; A. C. Freeman, Secretary and Treasurer.

It will be the purpose of the Milam County Hardware Company to carry a stock of everything in their line, including shelf hardware, plows, implements of every description, stoves, ranges, harness, glassware, etc. There will also be a high class plumbing department maintained, they will carry a good stock of plumbing supplies and bath room fixtures. The tin shop and sheet metal factory to be maintained by the Milam County Hardware Company will be second to none. They are in position to make anything that can be turned or twisted out of sheet metal or tin. This department is under the supervision of John F. McLane who is also a master in the art of making keys, John F. seldom finds a lock that he can not pry his way into.

The motto of the newly organized hardware business in Cameron will be to carry a full and complete stock always having on hand what their customers want. Under the able management of Mr. Judd Davis, whose experience in the hardware business has been of long duration, there is little speculation as to the success of the new firm.

kind of school Mr. Kidd had described. He spoke of the magnificent bequest of a new high school building and 40 acres of land for the development of the agricultural department of the school given to the city by Mrs. C. H. Yoe, with only one condition and that was that the citizens of Cameron equip it and keep it as it should be. He then spoke of the generosity of the people of Cameron and because of this fact he knew they would respond readily to the plan to be suggested. This plan was to raise the tax from 50 cents a hundred dollars to 75 cents. This would give an additional $5,000 for our school. Mr. Wallace closed his speech by reading a petition to the city council asking them to order a special election not later than April 1st, to vote on this increased taxation for the purpose of enlarging and equipping the city schools. He then invited every one present to come forward after the meeting and sign this petition.

Dr. Epperson then called on Mrs. W. O. Triggs to tell how the women stood on this question. Mrs. Triggs pledged the support of the women of Cameron in working for the success of this movement. She stated that although the women couldn't vote on this, they could use their influence and this they intended doing.

The meeting was then turned into an open meeting and Dr. Epperson said that they would like to hear from some of the tax payers in regard to this matter. He first called on Hon. T. S. Henderson, who paid a splendid tribute to Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Yoe, telling how this gift to the citizens of Cameron was the culmination of a life long purpose in the hearts of these two worthy citizens. And how gladly and cheerfully they had worked and saved to give this wonderful blessing to the children of Cameron. Mr. Henderson ended by saying that he would gladly get under the load and help to equip and maintain a school worthy of the citizenship of any city.

Among the other tax payers who pledged their endorsement and support of this increased taxation were: Hon. W. G. Gillis, A. N. Weems, Judge

PLANT FEED CROPS INSTEAD OF COTTON

Good Season in the Ground Insures
Bumper Corn Crop and Now is
Time to Plant.

The following bulletins issued by the Texas Industrial Congress of Dallas, Texas, are of interest to every farmer and land owner in Milam county:

"With the present good season in the ground, Texas is assured of a good corn crop this year," writes R. W. Crawford of Muenster, to the state cotton acreage reduction committee. "The reduction of the corn acreage in northern and western states, combined with the guaranteed price for this year's wheat crop, makes certain a good price for corn. What better tip than this does a sensible farmer want? If he had half as much as good a hunch on oil he would go to his limit.

"Here is another tip he might consider: Banks and cotton buyers are helping to hold last year's crop; if the cotton acreage is not reduced, however, the farmer will find himself with the crop of 1919 in the position of the ghost the negro left.

"A negro and a ghost ran a five mile heat over bad roads; the negro became exhausted and dropped by the roadside, and when the ghost whispered to him, 'we are both here,' the negro answered, 'Yes, but dey won't be but one of us, jes' as soon as I gits my wind back.'

"The farmers in Cooke county are doing real diversified farming these days, and increased acreages of wheat, oats, corn and barley will reduce the cotton acreage fully 50 per cent. Our farmers still have a lingering bitter taste in their mouths from the six-cent cotton crop of 1914, which makes $1 corn and seventeen cent hogs look good.

"Some farmers have told me that cotton produces more money per acre than any other crop, but few of them know whether it clears more, and that is the point.

"The old negro that bought corn across the river for $1 a bushel, and then hauled it to the other side and sold it for the same price did a big business, but—well, if the farmers keep planting all cotton they have no 'edge' on the old negro."

Increasing the Farmer's Profits

Who gets the money that comes to a community from road improvement? The men who build the road and furnish the materials get it, but as they give work, bridge material, cement, or other things in return, it is plain that they give as much value as they get. Those who haul over the road are the ones who really get something for nothing, in a great saving in time and work and wear and tear on their teams and wagons, for the yearly 50 cents, or whatever it may be, on the $100 valuation of their property. In a number of counties in Virginia, in which government representatives took a traffic census before and after road improvement, the haulage cost was cut approximately one-half, a reduction from 33.5 cents to 15.7 cents per ton-mile. This means that every time a farmer drives to town and home again if he lives a few miles out, he saves in work and time the total amount of his year's tax for building the road and for keeping it in good shape. The farther away he lives the more he profits in haulage. If he hauls ten bales of cotton to market in one trip where he could formerly with much difficulty haul three, he makes the total amount of this yearly tax in one trip, and the saving on the remaining haulage during the entire year is clean profit.

John Watson, T. F. Hardy, Dr. G. B. Taylor, C. N. Green, W. H. Triggs, P. O. Adams, C. F. Spillar, Dr. T. J. Denson and Mrs. Roy P. Jeter.

When Dr. Epperson called for a speech by any one who opposed this increased taxation, it was found that either there was no such man in Cameron or else he had stayed at home.

The high school students occupied the balcony and under the leadership of Mr. Crawford they made their wants known in no uncertain terms. Before the meeting began a series of yells for domestic economy, manual training, agriculture and better equipment were enthusiastically rendered.

COMMUNITY SING SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR

Get Together Jollification Friday
Night Proved To Be Most Enjoyable Affair.

"The man who has not music in his soul
Or is not stirred by the concord of sweet sound
Is fit for treason, strategy and spoil,
Let no such man be trusted."

Nothing is so inspiring and elevating to people as good music. Realizing this the "powers that be" in the army have given music a prominent and distinctive place. For there is nothing like music to keep up the morale of the soldier. There is nothing more resting and invigorating to a tired mind and body, and nothing so conducive to good fellowship as group singing.

Well what's good for the soldier is good for the civilian and all over the country we have seen a revival of the old-time community singing. Only today we have cut it down and call it community sings or sing songs. All the leading cities have them and great crowds of busy people gather and sing old songs with a sprinkling of the new, religious songs, rag time and patriotic songs.

And this is what was done in Cameron last Friday night. Under the auspices of the Symphony Club we had a community sing. Mrs. Myrtle F. Tucker, the director of the Symphony Club was assisted by Misses Goddard and Nowlin at the piano and by Prof. J. N. Crawford as leader of the singing.

Members of the High School Orchestra and several town musicians added to the occasion with their instruments.

A good crowd attended the sing and a very pleasant evening was spent singing the old and the new songs. The school children were there almost to a child. The high school sat in a body in the balcony and added pep, enthusiasm and melody to the occasion.

Mr. Crawford made a splendid conductor with his alertness and love of music. The selections were well made for every kind of song was found among those sung—they went from the sublime to the ridiculous and then back again. There were religious songs, patriotic songs, love songs, and call it anything you like—there was Ja Da.

Some of the songs were familiar, some had to be learned, but under the directions of the leader these new tunes were soon mastered and sung with a ring.

The Symphony Club deserves a vote of thanks and a full house for the next community sing, by the people of Cameron. Every one needs to relax and limber up and there's nothing like singing to do this. Singing makes a happy people.

The Symphony Club is to have a sing once a month. Lets come out and enjoy a good old fashioned get-together time. Men, women and children are invited to join in this movement of making Cameron people a singing people.

age during the entire year is clean profit.

The individual saving in haulage costs, which goes into the farmer's pocket cannot be expressed in dollars and cents, because one farmer will use a road more than another, and he will use it more in one year or one season than another. The annual saving for a county can be easily figured taking a traffic census on the roads, thus the annual saving for haulage cost over 1,232 miles of improved roads was $627,400 or more than $500 per mile. The cost of building was $3,330,070.21, or an average of $2,711 per mile. In other words the roads are putting into the pockets of the farmers who use them approximately four times their cost in the twenty years of life of the bonds by the saving made in haulage cost, to say nothing of gains in farm values and community living.

Texas is learning that good roads are a profitable investment.

COTTON REDUCTION RESOLUTION ADOPTED

Action Taken at New Orleans—Milam Cotton Growers Pledge Themselves.

Following are the resolutions adopted at the Cotton State Acreage Reduction Convention held at New Orleans February 17th and 18th:

Resolved:
1st. That this Convention hereby declares that at this juncture a reduction of at least one-third of the 1919 cotton acreage as compared to 1918 cotton acreage, and the planting of largely increased food crops is imperatively necessary for the present welfare and future prosperity of the South, and this Convention and the several farmers, merchant and banker members thereof hereby pledge themselves in their several capacities through their own actions and through their determined influence, to produce the desired end.

2nd. That this Convention declares that if the foregoing acreage reduction platform is carried out, there will be no necessity to sell any part of the present crop for other than remunerative prices, and the Convention hereby pledges itself and its members and affiliations not to sacrifice the present crop but to hold the same until demand calls for it at such prices.

3rd. That the farmers, merchants and bankers of the South should organize their force and influence to the end that the acreage reduction and holding campaign shall be carried vigorously into every county and every subdivision thereof in every cotton growing state; that in furtherance of this intensive campaign those States which are already organized should earnestly prosecute the work so well begun, and those States which as yet are not organized should proceed at once to marshal their forces and in so doing should utilize the machinery of the State Councils of Defense, where available, and the State and County agents of the Agricultural and Educational Departments of such State; that in all counties in which public organization meetings have not been already held, such meetings should be held on Saturday, February 22nd, for the purpose of ratifying the acreage reduction and cotton holding movement and securing the written pledges of all concerned, and it is recommended that said day or such day as may be appointed shall be declared a holiday and all stores in such meeting place be closed.

4th. That any man who because his neighbors and the cotton producers generally are reducing cotton acreage shall for selfish ends undertake to profit through such general action by increasing his own acreage, or by refusing to reduce the same, such man shall be deemed so lacking in public spirit and good citizenship as to forfeit the confidence and support of the community in which he lives.

5th. That the several State organizations in charge of the movement should in the near future, at a Convention, send delegates to a meeting called by the said Chairman for the purpose of reporting upon the work accomplished and considering the formation of a permanent organization of the farmers, merchants and bankers of the South dedicated to the purpose of securing for the cotton producer a just return upon his investment of money or toil.

Cameron, Texas, Feb. 21, 1919.
We, the undersigned cotton growers of Milam County, Texas, hereby agree to reduce the cotton acreage on our land in 1919, one-third as compared to the cotton acreage in 1918, according to the plan adopted at Dallas, February 11th.

We will urge all of our neighbors, and those renting land from us, to make a like reduction.

We will accept as rent, one-third of all grain and all crops other than cotton, raised on said land during said year; said rent for grain and all crops other than cotton to be delivered on the rented premises where grown:

ELECTION ORDERED FOR SCHOOL TAX

Citizenship To Be Given Opportunity To Provide Needed Funds For City Schools.

The long looked for, the much needed and the election that must be carried, has been ordered. It is an election whereby funds will be made available to carry on the all important work of Cameron's public schools. Little does the general public know the condition that the schools of Cameron were about to get into, for until a recent enactment by the State legislature, it has been impossible for the citizenship of Cameron to vote another penny of tax upon themselves for any purpose whatsoever, regardless of how badly needed, unless a new city charter be drawn up, approved and voted upon by the citizenship. The State legislature changed this. For the new enactment allows an additional amount to be voted on in towns and cities with governments like Cameron, for the maintenance of public schools.

The Cameron Public School had just about gone to its limit. The available funds this year were adequate some ten years ago to care for the needs of the children and keep good teachers, but where is there a citizen in Progressive Cameron today that wants our public schools to be now what they were ten years ago.

A committee from the board of trustees appeared before the city council at the regular meeting Tuesday afternoon and presented a petition signed by enough tax-paying citizens to get an election ordered, the substance of which is as follows:

"That an election is to be held on the 1st day of April A. D. 1919, at the City Hall in the city of Cameron, Texas, in the Cameron Independent School District, to determine whether a majority of the legally qualified property tax paying voters of said district desires to increase the tax of fifty cents on the $100 valuation heretofore voted for the purpose of supplementing the school fund apportioned to said district and to determine whether the city council of the city of Cameron will be authorized to levy, assess and collect annually a tax of and at the rate of seventy-five cents on the $100 valuation of taxable property in said district for said purpose."

There should be no forecasting as to the outcome of this election, the majority should be unanimous. Cameron's schools must have this tax to be maintained up to the standard. It will be only a few months until our fair city can boast of one of the most magnificent high school buildings in the State, the gift of a noble woman and we must be prepared to equip this building, not only with needed furniture, but with able instructors, such as we can now boast of, but whom we cannot hope to keep without compensation which only this tax can supply.

BE AWAKE CAMERON—This bond issue must carry.

Marriage should be practically indis-soluble; if it is not it is not marriage and has no force, no sacredness, no value. Instead of creating the family (which is the foundation of society and good government, it creates tribes of wandering, nomadic existences, bound together by no lay of duty, acknowledging no obligation, held by no tender cord of association, sympathy or companionship. To reorganize society on such a basis would be to return to the Fetichistic condition of the human race, to voluntarily relinquish all that has been gained of general moral and social elevation.

Training Little Children

Learning to Play and Work With Others, the Child's First Lesson in Social Training—This Is The Biggest Contribution of the Kindergarten—Ways of Providing for it Even in Small Families.

Suggestions by mothers who have been kindergartners. Issued by the United States Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C., and the National Kindergarten Association, 8 West Fortieth Street, New York.

(By Mrs. Dora Ladd Keyes.)

I like to remember that Froebel said, "The nursery was my university." This statement gives every mother a bond of understanding and sympathy with Froebel and his ideals as they have been worked out in the kindergarten.

The best modern kindergartens center their programs largely around the natural home activities of the child. Hence even though mothers may find it impossible to secure kindergarten privileges for their children, materials and opportunities are close at hand with which to provide, to some degree at least, for this need.

Last February a laddie who was just "half past three," with hands well scrubbed and nails manicured, cut out thirty-eight valentine heart cookies for his mother. Before he had finished he learned to be neat, quick, firm of touch and economical in his spacing. In addition he was unconsciously gaining a sense of participation and co-operation and the feeling of being a "real help" to mother.

Last autumn the same little laddie gathered a large paifful of scarlet summer seeds, which we plant every spring around the play fence.

Children love to have a place that is their "very own." My husband and I feel that the eight dollars we invested in a fence for a play yard for our two boys were well spent. The play yard is fifteen feet square and contains a little cherry tree, some grass and a large space from which grass has long since disappeared. Here we put a big sand pile which, when wet, supplied dough for all sorts of delectable bakery products, and when dry affords opportunities for constructing bridges and mysterious tunnels.

The play yard is the place for tea parties in the "hungry middle of the afternoon." It has not only supplied the needs of our own children, but it quite the social center of the neighborhood—too much so, one mother sometimes thinks!

Song, stories, hand work and nature study are important lines of kindergarten activity which a mother can pursue at home with the help of a few good books and her own resourcefulness. The child deprived of kindergarten is not so likely to suffer for want of these activities as for the lack of the social training which, to me, is the biggest contribution of the kindergarten. The child needs to play with other children. "Here," says Jean Paul, "the first social fetters are woven of flowers." And therein lies the unique value of the little play yard. Children learn there to give and take, to adjust themselves to each other and co-operate. They also develop the initiative that makes for leadership.

Play in the play yard is undirected so long as harmony prevails.

The neighborhood is the next larger natural group after the family and prepares the child for a conception of the larger school group and the community. In the summer I invite the children of the neighborhood—about sixteen in all—to come to our big lawn twice a week and join in our "Twilight Play Circle." During the winter I also invite them to come once a week to play indoors. We call the winter meeting our "Neighborhood Fun Club." I took my neighborhood as I found it and the children vary from 3 year olds to two eighth grade girls. One of the latter plays the piano for us and the other helps in numberless ways. I serve no refreshments.

Last winter we learned three simple folk dances and a number of the beautiful games that are so deeply rooted in the early social experiences of the race, such as "London Bridge" and "Here we go 'round the mulberry bush."

We also played other games suitable for a large number of children indoors, and learned about thirty riddles. Children who could read prepared special contributions, such as Robert Louis Stevenson. Two little girls sang duets for us, and one day we had a little guest who taught us some charming solo dances based on Mother Goose rhymes.

The children's love of the dramatic was shown by their fondness for guessing pantomimes. A child usually planned a pantomime beforehand and then invited others to help him work it out for the rest to guess. Our pantomime material was drawn largely from Mother Goose, Aesop's Fables and well known fairy tales.

Our "Fun Club" takes some of my precious spare time, as well as a considerable amount of energy, but I feel that it pays for myself as well as for the children. It makes me realize what Froebel's friend meant when he said, "It is like a fresh bath for the human soul when we dare to be children again with children."

Please pass this article on to a friend and thus help Uncle Sam reach all the mothers of the country.

A Self Starter.

It was young Mrs. Robinson's first party, and she was suffering the usual terrors of the inexperienced hostess. However, the cook arose to the occasion splendidly, and, so far as the dinner itself was concerned, Mrs. Robinson was delighted.

The only fly in the ointment was Jane, the new parlor maid; she was slow, clumsy, and her waiting was bad. But, in addition to these faults, she insisted on keeping her mouth open.

This so got on Mrs. Robinson's nerves that at last she exclaimed:

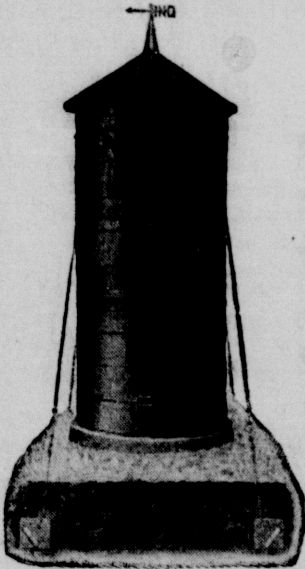

"Jane, your mouth is wide open!"

Jane withdrew her gaze from the ceiling and said, looking down with a cheery smile:

"I know it, ma'am; I opened it myself."—Pittsburg Chronicle Telegraph.

In Memorium.

Ernest Lavelle Majors, born October 4, 1895, at Maysfield, Texas, spent his young manhood days in Cameron, where he was widely known and loved by all who knew him. For the past two years he spent in the west seeking in vain for health.

His life has been an open book, no blemish, no trace of stain left to mar his memory. Though badly handicapped by ill health he made a hard fight for life and in each and every step he was always kind and considerate of others. He possessed a remarkable strength of character, a noble distinctiveness, which seemed to hold him above the sordid things of life, and make him a true and faithful friend, a man who valued friendship for its real value. He was an especially devoted son and brother.

He made the remark, during the last few days of his life, "that the only pleasure he had gotten out of life, was in what good he had been able to render others."

Some four months ago he came home from Douglas, Arizona, and since that time was confined to his bed. Though he suffered much he bore it all patiently, never once complaining of his fate. What was God's will to him was never to be questioned, and throughout the many trying days and nights fragile hope to get up again. He was fragile hope to get up again. He was a member of the Methodist church, a consistent christian, who lived very near to his God in his every walk of life, and died as he had lived, in the Lord.

He was the son of Nelson Majors of Cameron. His mother preceded him to that home above on September 13, 1906. His brother, Lester C. Majors, died on November 21, 1918. February 23, 1919, just three months from the day his brother was laid to rest, Ernest was called home.

He called the family around him, told them he was dying, and it was sweet to go, expressed a wish to his sister, that she might go with him. Although it was a great effort for him to speak.

His short life of twenty-three years, stands out as a vivid memory to his friends and loved ones, the influence of which will be felt as long as they live. Clean, pure, untarnished by his contact with the world and worldly things.

Funeral services were held at the Methodist church, conducted by Rev. W. G. Harbin, assisted by the pastor of the Baptist church, Rev. B. B. Blaylock.

By special request Mr. Mack Harvey sang "Face to Face." The services were concluded at Oak Hill cemetery, amid a large concourse of friends and loved ones. The floral offerings which were beautiful, were but symbolic of Ernest's beautiful life and proof of his many strong ties of friendship.

Thus has passed to his heavenly reward a noble character, whose place can never be filled in the hearts of his loved ones and friends.

He leaves to mourn his early going his father, N. Majors, two brothers, Kimbler and Wesley Majors, and five sisters: Mrs. W. P. McCall of Ben Arnold; Mrs. W. H. Tucker of Temple; Mrs. F. V. McCall of Waco and Miss Corrine Majors of Cameron; a sister-in-law, Mrs. Lester C. Majors, of El Paso, besides other relatives and friends.

Dancing in the Barn

WHAT does the phrase suggest to you—"Dancing in the Barn"—you of 1919, whose ears buzz with Jazz, whose feet tingle with Fox Trots, One-Steps and Hesitations?

If you are what our youths would call young, you only know by hearsay of barn dances, the jigs, reels, and jolly square dances of other days.

But perhaps you are of that other, that wiser generation. Perhaps you remember some barn dance of your childhood—with a hayride, perhaps, following?

The wholesome, jolly dance music of the country, music that some of us will never forget, you may dance to now, in your own home if you own

The New Government Sales Tax:

All Automobiles, Tires, Tubes and Accessories bought by us and not in stock on February 25, will be subject to a five per cent Government tax.

We are fortunate in having on hand at that time, a big stock of everything in our line, and for this reason, are in a position to save our customers this 5 per cent on all such stock as we had on hand when this law went into effect.

We wish, especially to call your attention to the tax assessed against automobiles. All new cars taken into stock after February 25, will bear five 5 per cent government tax instead of three per cent as heretofore, which will make quite a nice sum to save on a new car.

This also applies to our big stock of Tires, Tubes and Accessories, which we have on hand.

With these facts before you, no one can afford to wait until our stock is exhausted of these tax-free items.

We would therefore urge you to take advantage of our fortunate position and buy at this Great Saving, anything in our line that you need now or may need in the near future.

Let there be no slackers in the Cameron Commercial Club roll, there is work to do for all, you are needed, don't let your dues drop, be a booster and stay with the leaders. Remember this: "The devil lived in heaven until he began to knock."

Of course we have no criticism to make of that one voter who did not favor good roads in the Branchville community, but we do think that he must be a little contrary when every man in the entire community was against him and his convictions.

Loads of new spring merchandise are arriving in the stores of the Cameron merchants. They will soon be supplied with stocks like they never had before and at prices you cannot duplicate any place, quality considered. Come to Cameron to trade, good roads leading from every direction, a warm hearty welcome from merchants in every line of business. Welcome to Cameron.

THE SCHOOL BOND ISSUE

The Herald wants to register at the top of the list as an institution that is ready to fight to carry the school bond election. We, of course, expect no fight, there should be none, the issue should carry without the slightest opposition, and this is our prediction. The needs of the Cameron public schools are too well known to the high minded people of Cameron for it to be necessary to go into detail. There is only one thing to decide about the matter, everybody should decide alike—we must vote the bonds—there is no other way to successfully operate our schools and educate the onrushing generation.

So Rockdale has a Chamber of Commerce under way. Come on, sister Rockie. A rolling stone might not gather any moss, but a stirring Rock (dale) can "bring home the bacon." You're on the good road. Hold it, and—beware of "no man's land."—Cameron Herald.

We're enroute, brother; watch our smoke. With the good example set by the Cameron Commercial Club, and provided we can induce that body to get up a little interest south of the river, we even expect to have "no man's land" made passable. How about it; are you "wid us or agin us?"—Rockdale Reporter.

Brother Cooke we are with you, let your Chamber of Commerce Committee come to Cameron and you'll find the Cameron Commercial Club awaiting them with a warm reception, and ready to go with you across "no man's land" and be at the "butt" of the gun right by Rockdale's side.

Looking Forward Not Backward.

Will you sit and worry about the ravages of the war and the "flu" while other young people prepare to meet the demand of "Business?" Training is the one thing that makes a difference between the executive and the man in overalls. We are entering a period in which business training is more necessary than ever.

The next five years in this country will be the most progressive, prosperous and successful in our history. It will mean to you much or little in accordance with the manner you will be prepared to meet it. There will be no time to train the unskilled in the business office.

Business is already moving ahead by leaps and bounds. Every paper is carrying many advertisements for commercially trained help. A country wide investigation of Employment conditions, to get information as to the help in greatest demand, shows the following results: 1339 of the 2445 advertisements for help specified a business training and 524 of the remaining 1107 advertisements were for positions that office assistants grow into. No other profession can claim one fifth as great a demand. In fact, this proves that there is a greater demand for business training than all other trades and professions combined. Are you passing up a Business Training and its wonderful opportunities to become a day laborer, house maid, department store clerk, telephone operator, factory hand etc? Uncle Sam did not send untrained soldiers to France to win the war. Neither will American business men place untrained men and women in their stores, Banks, etc., to win in this great battle for business supremacy. If you want to work with the big men in business you must get a business education.

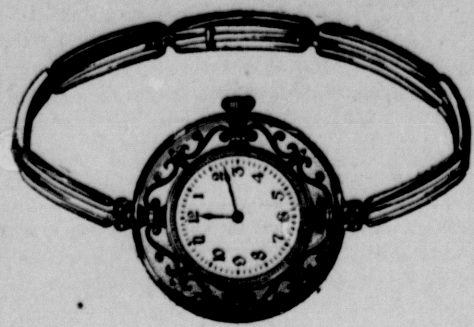

Remain as you are and you will occupy the same relative position ten years from now. Do not permit your self to work under an unnecessary handicap all the rest of your life. Spend a few months with the Tyler Commercial College, Tyler, Texas, securing the training that means opportunity to make a success of life. Do not permit any obstacle to stand in your way. Fit yourself for a life worth while. We have trained thirty thousand young people for business; we know how. We have helped solve other's problems that now confront you so won't you let us help you? Look forward, enroll NOW in America's largest commercial school for a thorough and practical course of Bookkeeping, Business Training, Shorthand, Telegraphy, Penmanship, Cotton Marketing and Sampling and Business Administration and Finance. Cam-Hi Weekly News

Edited by the Students of the Cameron High School.

Knox Tyson.....Editor-in-Chief
Jack Logan.....Assistant Editor
Walter Adams.....Senior Editor
Gaston Barmore.....Junior Editor
Stewart Epperson.....Sophomore Editor
Lee Tag.....Freshman Editor

Last week the Freshman Class gathered the high school news and edited it for the publication. They did remarkably well and received praise from their English instructors.

This week the Sophomore class is responsible for the news, and we believe they are doing themselves credit. Next week the Juniors are expected to far eclipse anything that has yet been done, and to set such a high pace that the Seniors, the following week, will have to "go some" to beat the underclassmen. Time will tell.

The sophomore is a highly developed human, who has outgrown the tadpole of freshmanhood. At this stage of life he reaches the full bloom of matured knowledge. After this all is one continuous series of mental deterioration.

Some have taken it upon themselves to reflect upon the sophomores by proffering the nickname of "Wise Fool." He is in fact the wise man. It is said that the three wise men from the east were sophomores.

The freshmen are harmlessly brainless, juniors are disgustingly protuberating and the seniors unbendingly superficial. As far from these as the sun from eternal darkness, we find the sophomore a model of perfection.

The sophomore would have compassion on these three pitiful parties were it not for the fact that they are so invisibly narrow as to be unable to discern the wisdom of their superiors. Strange that the world does not realize the unexcelled capacities of the sophomore. It was not intended that the whole world should be wise, but only a few of many, hence it is that the sophomore is so blessed with sublime foresight while the remainder of the world grapples in utter darkness. —L. H.

The Sophomore No. 2.

Since it is not proper that I should sing the praises of the class of which I am a member I will go back a few years to the time when acrostics were used and characterize the sophomores by that method.

S—Silent in the presence of the high and mighty.

O—Overwhelmed with wonder at all the seniors know.

P—Pitiful in our ignorance.

H—Harrassed by ambitious teachers.

O—Obedient to those in authority.

M—Modest concerning our own attainments.

O—Obliging to all.

R—Reliable always.

E—Eternally studious.

S—Superior in quantity and quality.

—A. H.

Base Ball Boys Organize.

Tuesday of last week Mr. Crawford called a meeting of all the boys interested in base ball. There were about twenty-five present. Mr. Leland Denson was elected captain on account of his efficiency in that line. Many of the boys have been limbering up their arms this week, playing catch, but on account of the weather much practicing is not now possible. The high school is expecting the team to win for it has the "stuff" and practice will put them in trim for a match game. —S. E.

Cameronian Meeting.

Monday night, January 24, the Cameronian Literary Society had largest attendance of its history. The meeting was not conducted as it usually is, instead of the regular program, boxing was the source of entertainment. Many good boxing matches were "pulled off."

The boys had a meeting Tuesday afternoon for the purpose of organizing an athletic club. Mr. L. J. Epperson was elected president, Mr. Homan Barge was elected secretary and treasurer. The admission fee is fifty cents and monthly dues are twenty-five cents. The boys expect to buy boxing gloves and a large wrestling mat. After every thing is thoroughly organized, boxing and wrestling matches may be held with neighboring towns.

Mr. Homan Barge wishes to announce that if your total of 75 cents is not paid you will not be permitted to attend the next meeting. This athletic club is strictly a high school organization and no town boys will be admitted.

Borrowing.

Last Sunday Mr. Brown sent his boy to one of the neighbors to borrow The Cam-Hi Weekly News. He rode his horse and while returning the horse ran away with him. Mr. Brown ran out to stop the horse and let all the cows out. Another one of Mr. Brown's sons was burning grass and while he was getting the cows back in the barn caught fire. Mr. Brown's wife, who was out in a very fine car, saw the fire and turned the car over trying to get home. Borrowing a newspaper always brings trouble. Subscribe for the Cam-Hi Weekly News.

A freshman girl was visiting her aunt in a neighboring town, and this is what she wrote home to her mother: Dear Mother: I am having a wonderful time, I go to a funeral every day.

Freshman's Prayer.

O, Father, I want to be a senior, And with the seniors stand, The whole town before me, A diploma in my hand. And grant, O Father That I may receive no punishment from the sophs Or stern eyed and iron willed profs Or from superiors shall receive no abuse. And that at examination time "Be with us poor fish" I whine And help O Father to do thy wish For we are only poor forgotten "fish." —Amen.—S. E.

Personals.
In current history Louise Denson found a gray hair in Maurine Messimer's head (which was an astounding social fact).

Junior: "Did you get your report card yesterday? Senior: "Yes, some one always has to come along and take the joy out of life."

It is rumored that Leon Collins was tardy only three times last week.

If Miss Lucy Brock were asked to write on "My Hobby" we are sure her subject would be "The Sailor."

This is "Bang" week for the Entrepreneur Club.

We have heard of Henry Ford, tin fords and we have a Crawford in our midst.

The Fish-Juniors surely must like the Soph-Senior social arrangement.

The Progress of the Annual.

The Annual has made a great deal of progress this year. The group pictures of the freshmen and junior classes, the boys basket ball, the orchestra, Cameronians and Bonnie Girls have been taken and are ready to be put in the annual. The individual pictures of the seniors and annual staff are also ready for the engraver. The business manager has $150 worth of advertisements. The Annual representatives of each class have collected the annual dues from the student body, the seniors having paid two dollars and the under classes one dollar each.—R. G.

Community Sing.

Friday evening a very successful program was enjoyed by the people of this community and the students of this community and the students of Cam-Hi. The program was under the direction of the Symphony Club, and proceeded under the title of "Community Sing." The auditorium was well filled—especially the balcony which was occupied by the high school students only.

The program was as follows:
"Keep the Home Fires Burning."
"There's a Long, Long Trail."
Reading—James Coleman.
"Till We Meet Again."
"JaDa."
"Beautiful Ohio."
Reading—Mrs. M. G. Cox.
"America."
"Old Folks at Home."
"Old Kentucky Home."
"Onward Christian Soldiers."
"Blest Be the Tie that Binds."
The final was a vocal solo, "Marsellaise" rendered by Mr. McClain.
The orchestra consisted of the following members: Mr. J. T. Parma, and Willie Parma, clarinets; Billie Clark, violin; Mr. Laake, trombone; Mr. Robinett, bass violin; Miss Goddard, piano.

We wish to especially thank the gentlemen who so kindly helped in the orchestra and Mr. Parma for his orchestral arrangement.

Chapel.

Tuesday morning chapel was opened with a song by the high school led by Mr. Crawford. This was followed by an address and prayer by Mr. Kidd. Wednesday morning Mr. Kidd made a ten minutes talk, after which we sang "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow." Thursday morning we were delighted with two violin selections by Miss Olive Henderson, accompanied by Miss Madie Weaver.

Friday afternoon the last period was used instead of the first. This period was given to singing, and the various classes vied with one another in practicing yells for the educational rally on Monday night.—F. A. H.

The junior challenged the seniors to an indoor base ball game. The game was played at recesses until nine innings were played. The juniors were the first to bat, this was Thursday. They did five in the first inning but lagged behind in the following ones.

The seniors played fast. Cecil Barmore made a home run and many other seniors made long hits during the morning recess. At the afternoon recess the juniors hit hard and heavy. They managed to make a few runs.

The seniors played hard and the few scores that the juniors made tended only to inspire them. Mr. Raymond Thompson knocked a home run over the junior left fielder. At the close of the evening recess the score stood 13 to 3 in favor of the seniors.

At the time of going to press Monday noon the score is thus far: Juniors 17, seniors 30.

Sophomore-Senior Party.

On Saturday night, March 1, the sophomores of Cam-Hi gave the seniors a party at the home of Miss Agnes Henderson. Nearly every member of both classes were present.

When the guests arrived they found strings running to all parts of the house. Every one, following these strings, found for a reward, a paper hat. These were worn with great glee by seniors, sophomores and faculty alike.

After this blank books were passed out and every one made a life book of his lady love or of her knight, by clipping suitable pictures from magazines.

Next came a series of charades which were given by both classes alternately. Great fun was had guessing the strange performances. Then came a tennis match, played on a table with egg shells. L. J. Epperson and Leland Denson proved to be no match for Homer Peel and James Coleman.

At this time, to our consternation, the lights slowly faded away. This, however, did not mar our pleasure for the remainder of the evening was enjoyed in candle light.

Tag Day.

Monday was Tag Day. Tags were sold by "Cam-Hi" students for 25c each. The purpose of this was to pay for the piano and other things that the school has purchased.

Mr. Kidd came in the study hall Thursday morning and announced that the first class to pay its portion, or in other words, go 100 per cent, would get out at noon, Monday. Within a few minutes almost every class in school, and all of the high school had gone over the top. The seniors came first, then the junior, freshmen and last, but not least, the sophs. This was accomplished by borrowing money from the "rich" members of the class and paying it back later. The sophomores did not do this, but came out on the square.

A later announcement provided that every member of the class had to pay his dues before the class was to be considered over the top. Consequently the sophs were over first. It was hoped by all that we would get a half holiday. This was not a false hope, as it came true, and all the classes of the high school went on a picnic that evening.—J. C.

"The German Crown Prince," said ex-Ambassador Gerard, "was much coddled in the past, but I once heard an American girl in Berlin hand him as the slang phrase goes, a good one."

"She was a breezy Western girl, a millionaires' daughter, and the Crown Prince was much taken with her dashing beauty."

"I can trace my ancestors back twenty-seven generations," he told her. "She looked him over and her lips curled."

"What else can you do?" she said. —Exchange.

Reinstatement of Civil Service Employees.

In a circular recently distributed by the United States Civil Service Commission attention is called to an Executive Order promulgated by the President on July 18, 1918, which provides that "A person leaving the classified civil service to engage in the military or naval service of the government during the present war with Germany and who has been honorably discharged, may be reinstated in the civil service at any time within five years after his discharge, provided that at the time of reinstatement he has the required fitness to perform the duties of the position to which reinstatement is sought."

The Civil Service Commission states that, in recognition of the services rendered by civil service employees who entered the military or naval service during the present war, the Commission will make special effort to assist these men in securing suitable positions in the Government service rather than to leave upon them the entire burden of finding suitable vacancies.

A man who is eligible for reinstatement under the order may apply to any office or establishment of the Government under which he desires reinstatement, but, if he prefers, he may request the Civil Service Commission or one of its district secretaries to enter his name upon a reinstatement list which will be brought to the attention of appointing officers when vacancies are to be filled.

"You are always on leave," exclaimed the commanding officer. "What on earth do you want special leave for now?"

"My sister's baby is going to be vaccinated, sir."

"And what has that got to do with you?"

"She's my sister, sir," explained Tommy, with a hurt look.

"What's the baby?"

"No, sir, the baby's sister's my brother—I mean I'm the mother's baby—er—the father's my sister. No, I mean—"

"You mean," broke in the commanding officer, angrily. "What do they want you for? That is the point."

AN APPEAL TO THE COLORED FARMERS OF TEXAS

I am sure you have been informed concerning the State-wide movement to reduce the cotton acreage.

On February 11th, 1919, an organization was formed at Dallas, Texas, for the purpose of putting forth an effort to reduce the cotton acreage by 33 1-3 per cent. This organization is composed of bankers' business men and cotton growers, representing every county in the State.

Now doubtless the question arises in your mind, "Why should I reduce the cotton acreage?" I will explain:

The time has come for greater co-operation. The business interests have realized the gravity of the cotton situation. The problem of cotton price making is indeed a great one, but remember that Texas has the brain and ability to solve any problem that may come before her. I am sure if all the farmers co-operate in this movement of cotton acreage reduction the cotton producer will no longer sell cotton below the cost of production.

The Commissioners of Agriculture, Marketing Bureau and Presidents of farmers' unions of the cotton states have put it up to the producers to reduce their acreage and avoid producing a surplus.

With the rainfall of last fall and winter, we can feel assured of a 15,000,000 bale crop or more. Now with the 8,000,000 bales that are being held is it not clear to you that that means a low price for 1919? February 22nd was pledge day, if you did not sign a pledge to reduce your acreage, I advise you to sign at once.

What shall I plant in the 1-3 acreage where I had cotton last year? Let me suggest that you plant more food and feed crops of some kind. As you well know we must help to feed a starving world and the high cost of food stuff is the greatest problem before the American people for solution.

In addition to your food and feed crops, plant legumes on your worn out places to enrich your soil. I advise that you write the State Department of Agriculture for information concerning planting legumes.

Yours truly,
C. W. Rice,

Colored Organizer, State Department of Agriculture.

ANNOUNCING THE Scaling Oil Corporation

The Scaling Oil Corporation is to be incorporated under the Laws of the State of Texas with an authorized capital of $300,000 divided into 300,000 shares with a par value of $1.00. All stock is common, fully paid and non-assessable, when issued, and each share will participate in all the company now owns or may acquire.

The company is under contract to begin drilling on the Scaling Ranch lease of 5,350 acres in the Southwest corner of Clay County, by the 20th of April, and our lease on the McFarland Ranch in the southwest part of Parker county provides that actual drilling be commenced by June 12th. Each of these wells is to be drilled to a depth of 3500 feet, unless oil or gas is found in paying quantities or the Ranger sand encountered, at a lesser depth. In addition to the above, the company owns leases on the following lands: 1653 acres in a solid body near Bellevue, Clay County, and we are advised that a deep test will be started very close to this acreage in a short time; 960 acres, 328 acres and 51 acres in southwest part of Parker county near the Sun Well which was reported on February 20th in the Dallas News as follows: "The report is that the Sun Oil Company has struck a good showing of oil at 3000 feet in the well located southwest of Weatherford on the Aterburn place. The well is shut down waiting for six inch casing." In event the above mentioned well should open up another pool our Parker county acreage would be worth many times our total capital stock. All our leases are for a term of five years or as long thereafter as oil or gas is produced in paying quantities and we will own seven-eighths of all the oil and gas produced.

Almost every acre of our holdings is in the Pennsylvania formation, from which most of the high grade oil of the world is obtained, and it is the opinion of our consulting geologists that the structural conditions are highly favorable for oil and gas on both our big leases where our first deep tests are to be drilled. Our clay county lease is midway between the Ranger and Duke pools on the south and the Burkburnett and Healdton (Oklahoma) pools on the north, and is practically surrounded by shallow fields and many deep tests drilling.

The possibilities of the investment may readily be seen when it is recalled that the company holds leases on more than 12,000 acres of very likely looking lands in the North Central Texas field, and, if proven oil producing, will be worth many millions and the drill will tell the story. As a testimony to the value of this offering over 100,000 shares were subscribed the first day in Fort Worth. The board has authorized the sale of only 200,000 shares at par and reserves the right to advance the price or withdraw this from the market at any time without notice, and in the event of an oversubscription your check will be returned.

In addition to the remarkable holdings of the company it is under the management of experienced oil operators and successful business men. Our Mr. W. E. Lawrence who has had many years of actual experience in the Mid-Continents oil fields, will have direct supervision of all the company's drilling operations. HATCH EARLY

F. W. Kazmeier, Poultry Husbandman, Extension Service, A. & M. College of Texas.

Too many fail to realize the importance of hatching early. Poultry hatched too late is not profitable.

Leghorns, Anconas, Hamburgs and other small breeds, should be hatched in March and April.

Rocks, Reds, Wyndottes, Orpingtons, Sussex, Minorcas, and other medium weight breeds should be hatched in February and March.

Brahmas, Cochins, Langshans, and other large breeds should be hatched in January and February.

Early hatched pullets, will be larger and lay earlier than late hatched pullets. If hatched too late will not lay any eggs until in the Spring.

One of the requirements for fall and wintered layers, is to hatch the pullets early.

If you desire eggs when they are worth five cents each or more hatch your pullets early.

Late hatched pullets can not produce fall and winter eggs.

Early hatched chicks are stronger and easier to raise than late hatched chicks.

Set your incubators and hens now. An early hatched chick is worth three late hatched chicks.

Early hatched cockrels can be sold as broilers at a fancy price of 35 to 50 cents and more per pound. Late hatched cockrels come on the market, when the markets are flooded with all kinds of poultry and a low price prevails.

Hatch early.

PLANT GOOD COTTON SEED

(By Walton Peteet, Specialist in Cotton Marketing, Extension Service, A. & M. College of Texas.)

While a substantial reduction of cotton acreage is very important, it is equally important that Texas farmers should at this time give serious thought to the kind of cotton they will raise this year. It is becoming increasingly difficult to sell short cotton of which there is a very large production in this state. While the surplus of low grades and short staples has made it rather difficult to sell cotton during the recent months, there has at all times a firm demand for the better grades which staple above 1 inch, and substantial premiums have been paid for this kind of cotton.

The wise thing for farmers to do this year is to plant good seed of some one of the approved good staple varieties of cotton, such as Lone Star, Rowden, Acala, Bennett and Truitt. These varieties are all of the big boll upland type, and they will yield as many pounds of seed cotton per acre and turn out as well at the gin as the shorter stapled varieties.

Cotton spinners, both in this country and in Europe, are coming to demand better staple cotton and the preferred lengths are 1 1-16 to 1 1-8 inches. Farmers who persist in growing half and half and similar varieties are certain to experience difficulty in selling their crop next fall.

Under the very loose and wasteful system of marketing cotton in Texas, growers of inferior varieties have in many instances received the same price as their neighbors who raise better cotton. But marketing conditions are undergoing a change and before another crop comes upon the market there is certain to be a just discrimination in local markets against the short staple product.

Great care should be exercised by farmers in buying seed, because large quantities of oil mill and gin run seed are being sold as first class planting seed of select varieties. I cannot too strongly advise farmers to purchase seed only from reliable and responsible parties, and in all cases to either satisfy themselves as to their quality or require a guarantee of purity and truthness to type.

Farmers who are in doubt as to the staple of the cotton they have been growing may send samples to me at 1308 Southwestern Life Building, Dallas, Texas, and I will report to them both its grade and staple.

55,000 Silos in Wisconsin

The farmers of Wisconsin have not only found out the truth in regard to silos, but they have been wise enough to take advantage of these benefits. Wisconsin has at least 55,000 silos in use today. There are districts where the silo can be found on every stock farm, and whole counties where practically the entire corn crop goes into the silo. Such demonstrations should be sufficient proof for stockmen to figure carefully on the silo problem.

Working—Tanlac Makes Him
Well Again.

"To my mind Tanlac is the greatest medicine in the world," said O. H. Mahaffey, chief engineer of the Life & Casualty building, Nashville, Tenn. "For two years," he continued, "I suffered awfully with the worst kind of stomach trouble and went down until I lost forty eight pounds. My back ached terribly and I suffered so much misery from indigestion that I thought I had an ulcerated stomach and was actually afraid to eat anything but a little oatmeal and sweet milk. I got weaker every day till finally, as nothing I took did me any good, I thought I would just have to throw up my job."

"My wife read in the papers where a man who had suffered like I was, had been helped by taking Tanlac, and she begged me to try it. After I had taken Tanlac a few days I began to get hungry and started in eating like I was starved, and nothing hurt me a bit. Soon those awful pains in my stomach and back were gone, I sleep fine at night now and get up in the morning full of life and energy and ready for my work."

Tanlac is sold in Cameron by the New Cameron Drug Company.

The PALACEDRUG STORE

THIS TELLS HOW TO FIGURE INCOME TAX

Squarely Up to Every Individual to Get Busy by March 15 or Suffer Penalty.

"Don't wait until the final due date, March 15, for paying your Income Tax and making your return. Avoid the last minute rush. Any person can figure out his liability today as well as he can next week, and if there is any point on which he needs advice he can now get in touch with a Revenue man."

This word of advice is from Alexander S. Walker, Collector of Internal Revenue, Austin, who is collecting the Income Tax in Texas. Collector Walker is giving without charge every aid of his office and his enlarged field force to help the people get their payments and their returns in by March 15th.

But the Income Tax men will not pull your door-bell or your coat-tails, according to the Collector's announcement. It is squarely up to every individual to figure out his own case and to get busy if he comes within the scope of the new Revenue law.

Did You Earn This Much?

Every unmarried person who received income averaging $19.25 a week during 1918 and every married couple who jointly received income averaging $38.50 a week should secure at once from the nearest Deputy Collector or the nearest bank a blank Form 1040 A. That form contains the information he will need to enable him to figure his correct net income and any tax that he owes the government.

The law requires that every unmarried person who had a net income of $1,000 or over and every married person whose net income was $2,000 or over (including the income of husband or wife and the earnings of minor children, if any) must make a return on or before March 15th. And this requirement does not hinge on whether the person owes a tax.

Taxable Income.

An individual must include under gross income all gains, profits and income derived from salaries, wages or compensation for personal service of whatever kind and in whatever form paid or from professions, vocations, business, sales or dealings in property of all kinds, interest, rent, dividends or profits derived from any source whatever. Very few items of income are exempt.

Deductions include ordinary and necessary business expenses, interest paid or accrued on indebtedness, taxes of all kinds except Federal income and excess profits taxes and assessments for local benefits, losses actually sustained, debts ascertained to be worthless and depreciation on buildings, machinery, fixtures, etc., used in business. A further deduction is allowed for contributions to corporations operated for religious, charitable, scientific or educational purposes or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals to an amount not exceeding 15 per cent of the taxpayer's net income as computed without the benefit of the contribution deduction.

The taxpayer is not allowed to deduct any personal, living or family expense, any amount spent for improving property or any expense of restoring property or making good its exhaustion for which an allowance is claimed under depreciation.

Figuring the Tax.

Before figuring the normal tax the dividends are deducted as credits from net income, together with the personal exemption. As in previous years, dividends of domestic corporations are exempt from normal tax when received by the stockholder.

The normal tax rates for citizens and residents are as follows: On the first $4,000 of net income in excess of the credits the rate is 6 per cent; on any further taxable income the rate is 12 per cent.

The surtax rates apply to net income of each individual in excess of $5,000. The personal exemption and the dividends are not deductible before computing surtax. In the case of returns by husband and wife, the net income of each is considered separately in computing any surtax that may be due. Form 1040 should be used for making returns of net income exceeding $5,000, and the instructions on that form will show how to figure the surtax.

Business House Returns.

Employers and others who paid wages, salaries, rents, interest or similar determinable gains in an amount of $1,000 or over during 1918 to any person must file an information return with the Government. Blanks may be secured from the Collector.

Every partnership must file a return showing its income and deductions and the name and address of each partner, with his share of the profits or losses during the past year. Personal service corporations will file similar information for 1918.

* INCOME TAX PAYS *
* FOR PUBLIC BENEFITS. *

"Viewed in its largest and truest sense, the payment of taxes is payment for benefits received or expected. Only from a narrow and essentially selfish and shortsighted viewpoint can the individual propose to himself the evasion of tax liability as a desirable course of action."—Daniel C. Roper, Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

Notice.

The impression seems to have gotten out that the Oil Mill is responsible in some way for the price of $20 per ton that has been prevalent up to a short time back on cotton seed hulls. This is entirely wrong. The Food Administration fixed the price on cotton seed and all its products and the price fixed by them on hulls was $20. Recently when Arkansas and Tennessee removed their restrictions on hulls and lowered their price and they were allowed to ship into Texas, the food administration then removed the $20 price that they had placed on hulls and mills were allowed to ship and sell them at lower prices. The Oil Mill here had nothing to do with the price put on them and in fact they paid $20 and freight for hulls and shipped them in here and sold them at a loss in order to keep the public from going without. Now that hulls are being shipped into the state and can be had for considerably less, they have been sold at the Oil Mill at $16 per ton out of the cars, and they may go cheaper still.

BAPTIST LOYALTY BOND CAMPAIGN GREAT SUCCESS

From all appearance it seems that the Baptist Loyalty Bond Campaign has succeeded. We have not yet had word from all the churches of the county, but the reports we have give assurance that we have more than raised our quota. Cameron church more than doubled her quota, and still the subscriptions come in.

Word from Dallas office to the effect that we have this week to round out the campaign and send in reports by the first of next week. Let all the churches make out their reports and sent in to Dr. F. S. Groner, Dallas, at your earliest convenience. Send duplicate report to me.

I desire to thank the newspapers of the county for their hearty cooperation in making this campaign a success. Also all other agencies and persons who co-operated with us.

Baptist Loyalty Bonds are a good investment. "Buy Baptist Bonds."

RAYMOND CRISWELL
VISITOR IN CITY

Noble Son of Milam County Who Had
Thrilling Experiences Returns
Home Wounded.

Sergeant Raymond H. Criswell, wounded soldier in the battle of Verdun on September 29th, now in general hospital No. 6, Fort McPherson, Ga., is in Cameron this week visiting his sister, Mrs. J. B. Henry. Sergt. Criswell is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Criswell of Thorndale and is married. Mrs. J. D. Roper of Burlington is also a sister to Criswell.

The story of Raymond H. Criswell's career as a fighting man for Uncle Sam does not start with the declaration of war with Germany by the United States and when the draft law went into effect, but with his enlistment in the regular army in 1912. Service was seen in various places including the Vera Cruz battle in Mexico.

On April 6th, 1917, when war was declared with Germany it found young Criswell in the best of trim and ready to do his full duty. In September of that year he was placed under heavy training at Camp Custer, Michigan and the following May was sent overseas. Not much easy sailing either was it for this Milam county son. A little over two weeks of sailing found the British ship "Muldaphy" on which he was crossing the sea and near the Irish coast on the 23rd a German sub sent the boat to the bottom of the ocean. There were 56 of the 500 soldiers on board lost, but Criswell was one of the lucky to survive. The survivors were carried into Dover, and after a few showers of bombs from the German planes while recuperating his company was equipped and sailed for Calais, France, and after a few days in rest camp moved to a point 14 miles from the city of Paris behind the German lines. On July 18, when the great offensive started Criswell was in the thickest of the fray. He was in the St. Mihiel drive on September 12th. He spent four days without rest, or sleep in the Argonne Forest and on September 29th in the Battle of Verdun, Sergt. Criswell received the wound that took away forever the use of his left arm, the entire muscle being shattered by a trench mortar.

Criswell was sufficiently recuperated by Thanksgiving to be sent back to America and it was on this day he sailed landing on December 15th and was immediately sent to where he is now stationed, General Hospital No. 6, Fort McPherson, Ga.

The story related by this noble son of Milam county who went to offer the supreme sacrifice is just what they will all have to tell. His description of the battles through which he passed are as fresh in his mind as if they had happened only today. His eye is keen to tell the exact date, hour and minute things happened.

All honor to the many boys of Milam county who are returning, let's extend a hearty welcome to each and every one on their return.

CHILTON CARRIED ROAD
BONDS WITH VOTES TO SPARE

Marlin, Texas, March 4.—The first road bond issue staged for 1919 was carried with such a large majority Saturday at Chilton, that the future campaigns to be staged by the various precincts of the county promise to follow the example and before many months, Falls county will be in the lime light, noted for modern highways and byways that will establish a reputation for the county. The three national highways will come in for their share of state and federal aid, when the precincts vote their districts in and within due time Falls county will come out of the mud and be high and dry all the year round, offering inducements to motorists to pass through, come to and inspect the modern routes to and from points of interest and commercial centers of the state.

GEORGE DID IT

By JOSEPHINE MURPHY.

(Copyright, 1918, Western Newspaper Union.)

In the cheerful democracy of Mrs. Allen's boarding house only Edith Fay disdained the front-step habit.

"You don't get a particle of breeze in that little room of yours," protested Mrs. Allen, friendly, from her rocking chair at the top of the steps; "you'd better join us squatters out here. The park smells cool, even if it is as hot as Kansas."

Young Mr. Day, whose legal practice was not generally believed to be large enough to require his presence in town during the summer, ceased staring at the park and glanced hopefully toward the girl. But she shook her head, smiling.

"I have to pack, you know," she answered.

"Pack?"

"Yes. I'm going to Pine Beach for the summer."

"Lucky girl! Pretty place."

"Have you ordered George?" called Mrs. Allen. "He can check your baggage through to destination now; it's a comfort. Unless you order him early he's likely to leave you in the lurch."

"I've attended to everything," said Edith, and floated off.

"You know," Mrs. Allen said, leaning forward, "she's going to the Pine Beach hotel as a sort of attraction, to sing. She hasn't enough voice for the opera, but they say she's great when she dresses up like a clown and sings ragtime."

Mr. Day muttered something about a walk and passed down the steps.

He returned an hour later to find the steps deserted, though the presence of the cushions seemed to indicate that the "squatters" would return. He sat down and began to fan himself. Presently Edith appeared.

"Oh!" she said, "I thought every one had gone for a ferry ride. I—"

"Please sit down and rest," said Mr. Day. "I think a breeze is coming up." After a second's hesitation she sank into Mrs. Allen's chair.

"Do you realize," he began, "that this is the first time I have been alone with you for weeks? Not since we went to 'Chin Chin' together."

"Has it been so long?" Her voice was soft and sweet.

"Edith, don't talk nonsense. You know I love you."

"Then you must not keep on. The conclusion would be painful to us both," she answered.

"Why should it be?" The light of battle was in his eyes.

"I know you could care for me if you would let yourself."

"It is not so," she replied, as she swept through the door and up the hall stairway.

"Heavens!" he exclaimed angrily. "She's not worth it. I'm done with her."

"Mr. Day has decided to go down to his mother's place on Long Island for the holiday," announced Mrs. Allen, as she hustled to get breakfast the next morning. "That reminds me, Jenny, he wants his bag checked for Bellport when George comes for Miss Fay's trunk. She's off, silly child, without any breakfast at all. She met Mr. Day in the dining room and they almost snapped each other's heads off when they said good morning. Here's George now. Jenny, go up with him and get the checks. Bellport, L. L., for the bag, and Pine Beach, N. J., for the trunk. Don't get them mixed, whatever you do."

"Now," said the proprietor of the Pine Beach hotel angrily, "I'll do right by you if you do right by me. But you're not doing right when you come down here without your properties. You should have seen to it that your trunk was on the same train with you. If it doesn't come on this last train, you won't need it at all."

"Here comes the porter now," cried Edith with a new hope. "Maybe he's found it. No, that isn't mine. Mine's a trunk, not a bag."

Nevertheless the porter deposited the suitcase with a tip-expecting smile. Edith glanced at the painted letters, "E. L. Day, Bellport, L. L.," she read.

"You need not send again to the station," she said. "There has been a mistake. I should like to be called for the first train in the morning."

A bright-eyed woodchuck was the only living thing that shared Edith's early morning at Pine Beach station. A train wheezed in, bearing express packages, papers, a trunk and a solitary passenger.

"I tried to telegraph you when I discovered this ridiculous blunder," began Mr. Day with the distant mien of a recently rejected suitor. "I took the last train to New York and the first down here."

"I'm sorry you bothered," said Edith. "It doesn't matter now, he doesn't want me—"

"Who doesn't want you?" Day demanded with fervor.

"The Pine Beach man—or anyone else, I dare say. You see he says I broke my contract—"

"Oh, he does, does he? We'll see if we can't alter his opinion as to contracts."

"I don't want you to. I don't want any contracts."

It was so still that by-and-by the woodchuck ventured out again. He stared with beady-eyed gravity upon a young man who dried a lady's tears by kissing her eyes. Then he scrambled back into the forest, pondering upon the words which had broken the stillness.

"God bless George."

REPORTS WHEAT CROP
85 PER CENT NORMAL

W. A. Thomas Expects Conditions

To Improve With Favorable
Weather.

Unfavorable weather of the last month has injured the wheat crop of North Texas, the present condition being 85 per cent normal, according to a report made by W. A. Thomas, agricultural secretary of the Security National Bank of Dallas. The crop is not so promising as it was a month ago, but favorable weather is expected to overcome this damage.

The acreage seeded to oats will be somewhat decreased on account of the lateness of the season. Many farmers are planting oats in mud and without preparation of the seedbed. The continued agitation for reduction of cotton acreage will cause more oats to be planted, even though the season is late. There seems to be no question about the position of the farmers in regard to cotton reduction.

"The great question for the farmer is what to substitute for cotton," Mr. Thomas said. "The question is all the more acute on account of the lateness of the season. There seems to be a growing sentiment toward increase of the corn acreage. The plan is to feed the corn to stock so that the money will be realized through the sale of the stock. Tenants have been encouraged to a considerable extent by landowners to increase the acreage in corn. The large landowners seem to be wide awake to the question of diversification and are taking every means at their disposal to induce tenants to practice same. This movement includes encouragement of the tenants to raise more hogs and sheep."

Mr. Thomas said that the farmers who are holding cotton are nervous over the situation, but are inclined to hold for higher prices. They believe that the prices will advance in the near future. But the situation has so affected them that the reduction of acreage will be fully 33 per cent. There are large quantities of cotton exposed to the weather. Unless immediate steps are taken the loss on this account will be very large.

Symphony Club Meets.

The Symphony Club had a most interesting and delightful meeting last Saturday afternoon at three o'clock with Misses Rose and Nowlin at the residence of Mrs. J. W. House.

Mrs. Roy Baskin the leader introduced the program for the afternoon in her charming manner. Schumann was the subject under discussion and the following enjoyable program was carried out:

Sketch of Schumann's life—Mrs. Leo Wilkerson.

Song—"Goodnight Pretty Stars"—Mrs. Tucker, Misses Rose and Nowlin.

Violin Solo—Tramferei—Miss Olive Henderson, accompanied by Mrs. R. P. Jeter.

Song—"Thou Art Most Like a Flower"—Mrs. J. L. Clinton.

Criticism of Schumann's Composition—Miss Ruth Goddard.

Mrs. T. S. Henderson read one of the selections from "Love Letters of a Musician" while Miss Ruth Sprinkel played Schumann's Marum.

All of the parts on the program were beautifully and entertainingly given. The next meeting will be two weeks from Saturday at Mrs. T. C. Stafford's at which time they will have chorus practice.

Six O'Clock Dinner.

Last Friday Miss Martha Lou Hooks celebrated her thirteenth birthday and in honor of the occasion her mother, Mrs. James Hooks gave her a six o'clock dinner.

Places were laid for ten little girls who were special friends of Martha Lou. The table was beautifully decorated having for its center piece an exquisite bunch of red carnations.

An elegant coursed dinner was served and a jolly good time had. Those enjoying the hospitality were: Misses Olive Henderson, Pauline Green, Ruby Caton, Sallie Coleman, Eloise Rogers, Ruth Kemp, Mary Francis Green and Mabel and Mildred Aiken.

Masquerade Party

At the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. R. McCown, Wiltz gathered a merry crowd of his young friends for a party last Friday night. It was a masquerade party and the young folks came in all sorts of costumes which added to the fun of the occasion.

Old fashioned games, music and progressive conversation were the way the evening was spent. During the games delicious punch and cake were passed at frequent intervals by Mrs. McCown.

CHILD CONSERVATION OBSERVED AT CITY CHURCHES

Sunday special services in the interest of Child Welfare were conducted at the different churches of the city.

At the Methodist church Sunday morning after special music by the choir and a solo by Mr. McLane, Rev. W. G. Harbin preached a splendid sermon on child conservation.

At the Baptist church the evening service was given over to this subject. Mr. L. H. Kidd, superintendent of the city schools gave an interesting and instructive talk on Child Welfare, after which Miss Minnie Wolf in her charming way gave a very impressive reading. The sermon was preached by Dr. E. G. Townsend of Baylor College which was enjoyed by all present. Special music was furnished by the choir.

Sunday night at the Presbyterian church the pastor, Rev. McFadyen, preached on Child Conservation, after a special song service by the choir assisted by Mr. McLane.

Shower for Miss Lil Jeter.

Friday afternoon the Kilkare and Sigma Phi Clubs had a shower for Miss Lil Jeter, who is convalescing in the sanitarium from an operation.

Before going to the sanitarium the club members met with Miss Winnie Henderson when a picture-book for Miss Lil was prepared by the guests. After which the hostess assisted by Miss Ada Henderson served a salad course.

A basket lined with flowers and filled with pretty things topped by a large green maline bow was then taken to Miss Lil. Here the guests had lots of fun watching the honoree open the mysterious packages while they enjoyed chocolate candy.

Miss Hattie Darron of Waco was a week-end visitor of Dr. and Mrs. Jim Watson.

Priscilla Club With Mrs. H. M. Hefley

Mrs. Henry M. Hefley entertained the Priscilla Club last Thursday afternoon. The meeting was enjoyed by nearly all of the members and a number of invited guests. Bowls of violets and other spring flowers were used in the decoration of the house. The afternoon was devoted to the making of dainty hand-work. Mrs. Hefley assisted by Miss Sallie Kate McLane served a salad course during the pleasant hours at her home.

The guests of the club were Mesdames L. H. Krough, W. A. Bonds, J. L. Clinton and Chester A. Farris of Arlington and Misses Annie Bowman of Mooreville and Sallie Kate McLane.

Those Women Officers

The American army has women soldiers in the ranks, and not only women soldiers but women officers leading United States troops. At least, that is what the Germans thought as they saw the Y. M. C. A. canteen workers in uniform marching at the head of the troops when the first division entered the city. The canteen women marched at the special request of the units to which they were attached. The Y. M. C. A. canteen at Coblenz, the first in Germany, attracted the attention of the Germans, who marveled at the "luxuries" that the American troops took quite as a matter of course.

Tag Day.

Monday was tag day in our city. It was Child Welfare day all over Texas and the proceeds from tag selling was to be used for the benefit of the children in the town or community where the tags were sold.

This movement was carried on in Cameron under the direction of the city school and the Parent-Teacher Association and the funds collected will be used to help pay for the musical instruments and other equipment recently purchased for the school children.

Two hundred and twenty-five dollars worth of tags were sold. Of this amount the school children bought a hundred and ten dollars worth, while the parents of these children came forward with the hundred and fifteen.

This money was gladly given because the people knew that it was going to be well used.

"America" on the Rhine

"America" was sung for the first time on the banks of the Rhine by American soldiers on the night that the men of the First Division of the American Army of Occupation entered Coblenz. The concert, the most enthusiastic and inspiring of its kind ever given, was under the auspices of the army Y. M. C. A. who have put up their Red Triangle sign over the door of the big Fest Halle in Coblenz.

"LES MISERABLES" TO BE SHOWN AT WONDERLAND

The Pathe Company has a new version of Victor Hugo's masterpiece, "Les Miserables." The feature, directed by Albert Capellani, is in eight parts and stars Henry Kraus, France's leading dramatic actor, in the world famous character of Jean Valjean.

M. Kraus is the most famous actor in France. He made a hit in this country in the six part production of Zola's "Germinal," one of the best known works in French literature and one of the first big features to be seen in America.

He is supported in "Les Miserables" by a splendid cast, including Mlle. Mistinguett as Epone, and Marie Fromet as Cosette.

Mlle. Mistinguett starred in Pathe's "The Siren," released in five parts about two and a half or three years ago. Mlle. Fromet is France's most famous child actress.

When "Les Miserables" was first shown in the United States it scored a triumph, running at Carnegie Lyceum, New York, for several months. Manager Hefley of the Wonderland Theatre, in keeping with his progressive policy, has negotiated with Pathe for a booking and expects to present "Les Miserables" on Tuesday, March 11th.

Miss Annie Bowman returned to Mooreville Monday after a pleasant visit to her sister, Mrs. Jim Watson.

Dr. Wood Finley of New York City visited his mother, Mrs. Finley and sister, Mrs. W. T. Hefley this week.

W. M. Brown of Buckholts was in Cameron on business Wednesday.

Put It In Your Plans.

Put what in your plans? Why, to go to church every Lord's day. That is what the day is for. "A day in thy courts is better than a thousand," said the Psalmist. "I had rather be door keeper in the house of God than to dwell in the tents of wickedness." Try it, brother, and see if you do not find pleasure and profit in attending the service at the house of God.

The church going habit is like all other habits. It is done by "doing it" and thereby becomes easy when we get the habit. But, on the other hand, when we get out of the habit of going to church, it is mighty easy to find some other thing to do on Sunday morning or evening.

Your minister not only needs your financial support, but he needs your moral support as well. He can't do his best work without your support. Be in your church services next Sunday, both morning and evening. Encourage your pastor with your presence. He will preach better. Try it. You are always welcome at all the services at the Baptist church. Services morning and evening.

PAY AND FILE INCOME TAX BEFORE MAR. 15

U. S. Internal Revenue Bureau Gives Warning That Severe Penalties Will Be Enforced.

WOMEN WITHIN LAW'S SCOPE; HOW THEY REPORT INCOME

The Income Tax drive comes to a close on Saturday night, March 15.

The payments and returns due on that date under the provisions of the new Revenue Law must be in the hands of local Internal Revenue Collectors before their offices close that night.

The Income Tax is being collected to meet the war expenses. Every person who shouted and tooted his horn on Armistice Day is now called upon to contribute his share of the cost of winning the war.

The laggards and the dodgers will face severe fines and jail sentences. The Internal Revenue Bureau announces that its officers will check us all up to see that every person who comes within the scope of the Income Tax law did his share.

Where to Pay and File.

Residents of Texas are required to make their returns and pay their taxes to Alexander S. Walker, Collector of Internal Revenue, Austin, Tex., or to deputy collectors who are now doing free advisory work on Income Tax.

Payments sent by mail should be attached to the returns and should be in the form of check, money order or draft. Cash payments by mail are sent at the taxpayer's risk of loss.

If you are unable to make your return personally because of illness, absence or incapacity an agent or legal representative may make your return.

If there are any doubtful points as to your items of income or allowable deductions you should get in touch at once with a Revenue officer or a banker for advice.

Women Pay Tax.

Women are subject to all the requirements of the Income Tax. Whether single or married, a woman's income from all sources must be considered.

If unmarried or if living apart from her husband she must make her return for 1918 if her net income was $1,000 or over.

If married and living with her husband her income must be considered with the husband's in determining the liability for a return. Their joint income, less the credits allowed by law, is subject to normal tax. The wife's net income is considered separately in computing any surtax that may be due. Husband and wife file jointly, as a rule. If the husband does not include his wife's income in his return the wife must file a separate return.

Severe Penalties.

The new Revenue Law places severe penalties on a person who fails to make return on time, refuses to make return or renders a fraudulent return. For failure to make return and pay tax on time a fine of not more than $1,000 is named and 25 per cent of the tax due is added to the assessment. For refusing willfully to make return or for making a false or fraudulent return there is a fine of not exceeding $10,000 and imprisonment of not exceeding one year, or both.

Farmers' Income Taxable.

Every farmer and ranchman who had a fair or a good year in 1918 must heed the Income Tax this year. He must consider all his income as taxable. He is entitled to deduct from his gross income all amounts expended in carrying on his farm. The cost of farm machinery, farm buildings and improvements cannot be deducted. The cost of live stock, either for resale or for breeding purposes, is also regarded as investment.

Overtime and Bonuses Taxed.

Salary and wage earners must consider as taxable every item received from employers and from other sources. Bonuses and overtime pay are to be reported as well as the regular payments.

Allowances for Losses.

Losses sustained in 1918 and not covered by insurance are deductible items if incurred in the taxpayer's business or trade, in any transaction undertaken for profit or arising from fire, storm, shipwreck or other casualty or from theft.

SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERY INCOME TAX PAYER.

Washington, D. C. — "The rights of all persons now filing Income Tax returns are amply protected by provisions for abatements, refunds and appeals," says Commissioner Daniel C. Koper.

"Every person can be sure of a square deal. No person is expected to pay more than his share of tax. His share is determined solely by the amount and nature of his net income for 1918, as defined in the law."

"Abatement petitions are dealt with open-mindedly. Refunds will be made in every case where too much tax is erroneously collected."

"The Income Tax is 'on the level' all the way through."

HIS FARMERETTE

By NELLIE A. DELANEY.

(Copyright, 1918, Western Newspaper Union.)

Martha Colby added a few finishing touches to the already spotless kitchen.

Tonight four girls were coming from the city to work on the farm. Mr.
Colby found male help impossible to secure, so at last he gave up and advertised for farmerettes.

Martha brushed back the jet black hair from her forehead, put on a fresh blue gingham dress, a white, stiffly starched apron, and before she could get to the kitchen a loud pealing of the door bell announced the arrival of the new farm hands. She opened the door nervously, and there stood four fashionably dressed girls. Laughing and chatting merrily, they followed the now more than ever nervous
Martha.

In the dining room Tom Colby, born farmer, showed plainly that life on a farm had not made him any different from the rest of the sterner sex. He gazed admiringly at each pretty girl, and Martha could not remember when he had talked so much, but instead of the uneasy feeling leaving her it grew more apparent, and she tried in vain to hide the red hands, rough from heavy work.

Married at sixteen, then ten years of hard work to help pay off the mortgage on the little farm, made Martha feel more like forty than twenty-six.

Before the first meal was over Martha was experiencing a feeling absolutely new to her. She was thinking of the long evenings when Tom, after a hard day's work, would go to sleep in his easy chair, then the long, lonesome evening must be passed in silence. Tonight he was wide awake, and after supper, through the open window Martha watched him eagerly show the four girls the different places on the farm. She turned from the window, and the ugly pain that had started at supper, increased with great rapidity, nor could she explain its meaning, for Martha was experiencing jealousy for the first time in her life.
She hated the four rosy-cheeked girls with their city ways; she hated the way they plastered their hair around their ears, entirely covering them, and she felt that she almost hated her beloved Tom.

As the days wore on Martha became more silent and miserable. One day she got up courage to ask Tom what he thought of the farmerettes, and he expressed himself in one word,
"peaches." Then it was true, she told herself, Tom was slowly slipping away from her, and walking into the next room the big brown eyes filled with tears.

"Why the tears, girl?" a musical voice sounded behind her. The blood rushed to Martha's cheeks as the prettiest of the four farmerettes approached her. "I forgot my powder puff," she added by way of explanation for coming back from the field.

Martha's first impulse was to run away; instead, womanlike, she burst into tears, and let the girl she hated lead her to the chair and coax from her the reason why she wept. Putting her arm around Martha, she whispered: "Little country girl, you are jealous without cause; why, you are five times as pretty as any city girl.
But as we are going back to the city tonight, let's prove that fact to your husband. He is going to drive us to the station, but before we go we will fix you up a little—only," she added,
"we can't put any more roses in those cheeks." After much whispered planning, they separated.

That night, as Tom Colby sat in the wagon waiting for the four girls to appear, it seemed to him it took them a long time to bid Martha good-by. They finally appeared, and Tom drove them to the station. He did not wait for the train; somehow, tonight he longed to pass a pleasant evening alone with his wife; he had made up his mind there was just one little farmerette in the world for him, and that was Martha.

As he drove into the yard, he was a little surprised that Martha did not come to meet him, as was her custom.
Throwing the reins to the hired man, he hurried into the kitchen. The supper dishes were still in the pan, and the table had not been cleared.

A feeling of fear came over Tom, and he hurried into the bedroom. There on the floor in a crumpled heap was the familiar blue gingham dress. A slight noise in the parlor turned his attention there, and pushing open the door he beheld Martha in a blue silk dress, white shoes and stockings, and, worst of all, the beautiful black hair was pulled tightly over two pin ears.

Tom stared for some minutes in silence, then Martha asked sweetly: "Do
I look so strange in pretty clothes, Tom? Don't I look as good as the four farmerettes?"

"Why, Martha, girl," Tom replied slowly, "there's just one farmerette in this world for me, and that's my Martha, but it took four city girls to wake me up to that fact, but," he added, wistfully, "I like you best in the blue gingham, with your hair done the other way."

The following week a little stenographer in a stuffy office stopped pounding the keys of her typewriter long enough to read a postcard from her country friend, and she smiled happily at its contents: "It worked fine, dear, but I am still wearing my gingham dress, and he won't let me wear my hair over my ears."

OPEN HIGHWAYS BECOME
NECESSITY TO BUSINESS

It is noted in the news that a four-ton truck has carried 150 crates of eggs from Southern New Jersey to Philadelphia without cracking a shell, says the Christian Science Monitor.

This is just an incident in a tremendous transportation industry over the highways which has been built up as a result of war time conditions but which seems likely to expand rather than diminish now that the war is over. This mode of transportation has one admirable aspect that is often overlooked. With so many motor trucks on the roads it has become necessary to keep all important highways open to traffic the winter through. That makes it easier for the farmer to get to town with his produce, which makes more business for the local merchants, which in turn, makes greater need for motor trucks to haul their goods. Open highways have become a necessity to business, a boon to private motorists and a blessing to farmers.

Medical Men Patriotic.

The splendid health in which the Canadian corps has been maintained is due to the unceasing vigilance and tireless efforts of the Canadian army medical corps. Windmill Drives Dynamo.

A dynamo-driving windmill lately described by H. C. Vogt has sails 100 feet in diameter, with an area of 3,930 square feet. A wind of 24 feet per second gives 290-horse power. Cog wheels with spokes in tension transmit the power and the speed is increased by the gearing from 12½ revolutions per minute of the main shaft to 1,500 for the dynamo.

EVERYBODY IS NOW FIGURING INCOME TAX

In Order to Be Helpful to Public,
Internal Revenue Bureau
Has Every Available
Officer in Field.

SEVERE PENALTIES IF YOU
DELAY BEYOND MARCH 15

With the due date for Income Taxes only a few weeks away, the collection of this far-reaching tax on 1918 incomes has started off with a bang. Everybody is figuring income tax.

Payments and sworn statements of income must reach Internal Revenue offices on or before March 15, and there are severe penalties for delinquency.

Residents of Texas are required to make their returns and pay their taxes to Alexander S. Walker, Collector of Internal Revenue, Austin, Tex., or to deputy collectors who are now doing free advisory work on Income Tax.

"Pay your Income Tax by March 15," is the slogan of the Internal Revenue Bureau, which has sent every available officer into the field to help the public to understand the requirements and to prepare the returns.

Who Must Make Return.

It is estimated that many thousands of single and married persons in this section of the United States who have never before made annual returns are required to do so this year.

Income tax returns must be made between now and March 15 by persons who come under the following classifications:

Any unmarried person whose 1918 net income was $1,000 or over. Widows and widowers, divorcees and married persons who are living apart from their husbands or wives, are for the purposes of the Income Tax classed as unmarried.

Any married person living with wife or husband whose 1918 net income was $2,000 or over. The income of both husband and wife must be considered, together with the earnings of minor children, if any.

Revenue Bureau Offers Aid.

Each person in the United States who is in either of these classifications must get busy at once if penalties are to be avoided. He should secure a blank Form 1040 A for reporting net income up to $5,000, or Form 1040 if his net income exceeded that amount. Forms are being distributed by Collectors and their Deputies, also by banks. By following the instructions on the forms a correct return can be prepared at home. If a person needs advice or aid, the Deputy Collectors in the field will furnish this without charge.

The new Revenue law places the Income Tax duty on citizens and residents. The Internal Revenue Bureau is sending its men to work right with the public to get the tax and the returns in. With active co-operation every tax due March 15 will be paid and every return required by law will be in the Revenue offices on time.

Exemptions Allowed.

A single person is allowed a personal exemption of $1,000. If he is supporting in his household relatives who are dependent upon him he may claim the status of the head of a family who has the same exemption as if married.

A married person who lives with wife or husband is allowed a personal exemption of $2,000. The head of a family is entitled to claim a similar personal exemption.

An additional exemption of $200 is allowed for each person under eighteen or incapable of self support who was dependent upon and received his chief support from the taxpayer.

A husband and wife living together are entitled to but one personal exemption of $2,000. If they make separate returns the exemption may be claimed by either or divided.

Accuracy Required.

Absolute accuracy is necessary in making up income figures. Any person who is working for wages should find out exactly how much he received during the whole year 1918. Fees, bank interest, bond interest, dividends, rents received and all other items must be reported correctly. Mere guesses are not accepted, for they are unjust alike to the taxpayer and the Government and defeat the proper administration of the law.

★ INCOME TAX IS ★ ★ TRULY POPULAR. ★

"The payment of Income taxes takes on a new significance which should be understood by every citizen. The taxation system of this country is truly popular, of the people, by the people and for the people. Every citizen is liable to tax, and the amount of the tax is graduated according to the success and fortune attained by each individual in availing himself of the opportunities created and preserved by our free institutions. The method and degree of the tax is determined by no favored class, but by the representatives of the people. The proceeds of the tax should be regarded as a national investment."—Daniel C. Roper, Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

LIFT OFF CORNS!

Apply few drops then lift sore, touchy corns off with fingers Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little Freezone on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right out. Yes, magic!

A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without coarseness or irritation.

Freezone is the sensational discovery of a Cincinnati genius. It is wonderful.

FIFTH IN FIGHTING MEN FIRST IN VICTORY LOAN

Ranking fifth in the number of enlisted men furnished the U. S. Army by states, Texas with its contribution of 161,065 men not only exceeded the enlisted strength of the entire regular U. S. army of 1917 (121,797 men), but achieved a new record for patriotism and loyalty as well.

Texas with a population of five million gave 161,065 of her sons as against New York's enlistment of 367,864, with a population of over nine million. The three other states following New York's lead are Pennsylvania with 297,891 men; Illinois, 251,074; Ohio, 200,293.

The promptness and willingness with which the state responded to the call of an unprepared nation suddenly plunged into a disastrous war that has racked the entire world should be a source of pride and gratitude for every Texan.

They have given the Lone Star a new lustre; have kept her escutcheon free from blot or stain, and have attained everlasting honor for their high courage and their performance of duty.

In the coming Victory loan every Texan will be given the chance of rising to the standard set by the state's enlisted men. Fifth place in contribution to fighting strength of the nation is no mean distinction for a state with a population as scattered as that of Texas. In meeting the country's war debt through the Fifth

Liberty Loan, Texas will have the opportunity of acquiring first place in subscriptions to the Victory Liberty Loan. In this way only can she match the superb sacrifice of her men who have given to the utmost for her salvation and honor.

GIRLS! LEMON JUICE IS A SKIN WHITENER

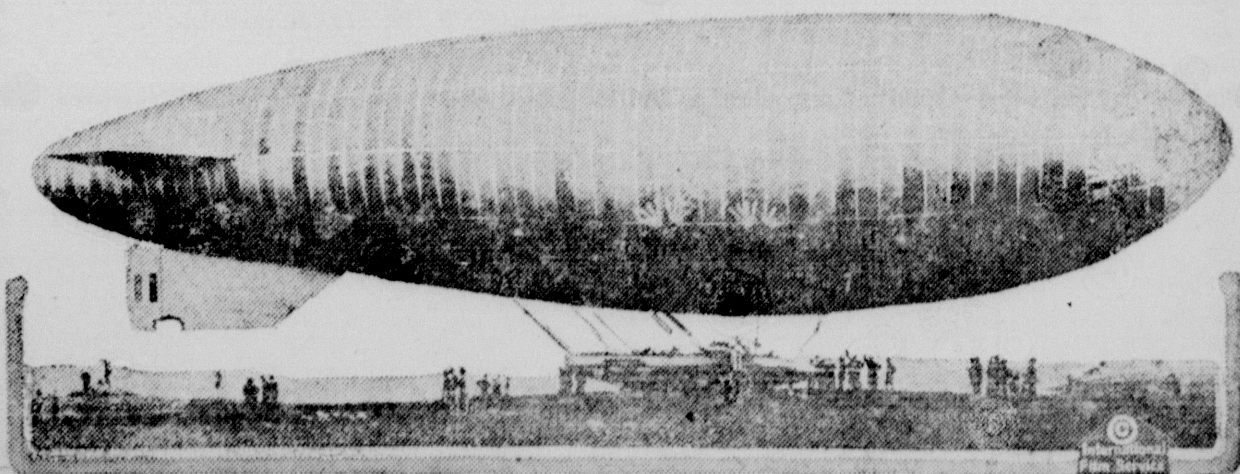

How to make a creamy beauty lotion for a few cents.

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quarter pint of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whitener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands.
